SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE HOSTS DISCUSSION ON IMMIGRATION ENFORCEMENT CHANGES AND THEIR IMPACT ON HAWAII

HONOLULU – This upcoming Monday afternoon, December 8, the Hawai'i State Senate Committee on Judiciary, chaired by Senator Karl Rhoads (Senate District 13 – Dowsett Highlands, Pu'unui, Nu'uanu, Pacific Heights, Pauoa, Punchbowl, Pālama, Liliha, Iwilei, Chinatown, and Downtown) will hold an informational briefing to hear about the impact and legality of new federal immigration enforcement efforts as they relate to Hawai'i. This will be the final briefing in a six-part series of informational briefings on the rule of law in relation to the recent actions of the Trump Administration and how its decisions are impacting Hawai'i.

Among other issues, the briefing will explore enforcement actions that are occurring in the State, the disregard of due process requirements and standard court or legal practices, the questioning and detention of individuals who are U.S. citizens or whose legal immigration status is clear, the suppression of free speech and the media, and pressure on state and local law enforcement to collaborate with federal immigration actions.

"We've seen a rise in the use of troubling tactics by federal immigration officials. Everyone supports deporting criminals who have committed violent crimes. What is concerning is the harassment of American citizens, legal immigrants and those who have lived in the United States for decades holding legitimate jobs, often doing critical work like harvesting farm products," said Senator Karl Rhoads. "The Judiciary Committee seeks to gather information on whether these new tactics are consistent with constitutional protections and long-standing legal norms. Our goal is to ensure the rights of Hawai'i residents are respected and that none of us have to worry about being abducted by unidentified masked men while going about our daily business.”
