

FIFTIETH DAY

Monday, April 15, 1991

The Senate of the Sixteenth Legislature of the State of Hawaii, Regular Session of 1991, convened at 11:38 o'clock a.m. with the Vice President in the Chair.

The Divine Blessing was invoked by Lieutenant Troy Trimmer, The Salvation Army, after which the Roll was called showing all Senators present with the exception of Senators Chang, Fernandes Salling, Koki, Matsuura and Solomon who were excused.

The Chair announced that he had read and approved the Journal of the Forty-Ninth Day.

The following introductions were then made to the members of the Senate:

Senator Iwase introduced Sarah Jean Lee, Hawaii's Young Woman of the Year, seated on the floor of the Senate, as follows:

"Mr. President, the Young Woman of the Year Program is a nationwide scholarship program established to recognize, reward and encourage excellence in American youth. Formerly known as the Junior Miss Program, the program was renamed Young Woman of the Year to more accurately focus on the achievements of outstanding young women.

"It gives me great pleasure today to introduce Hawaii's Young Woman of the Year Sarah Jean Lee. Sarah is the daughter of Lawrence and Adeline Lee and is a student at Waipahu High School.

"Some of Sarah's many honors and activities include: Waipahu High School student government president; national delegate, Distributive Education Clubs of America; Executive Women's International Scholarship, regional winner.

"The first runner-up, Edrienne Leolani Edwards, hails from the Island of Kauai, and could not be with us today. She was earlier presented a certificate by Senator Fernandes Salling. Senator Tungpalan will be introducing the second runner-up.

"At this time, Mr. President, I would like to introduce Sarah Jean Lee to be recognized. Sarah Jean, congratulations!"

The honoree rose to be recognized and was presented the congratulatory Senate certificate by Senator Iwase and received a lei.

Senator Tungpalan then introduced Mahealani Cynthia Richardson as follows:

"Mr. President, it gives me great pleasure to introduce the second runner-up in the Hawaii Young Woman of the Year contest, Mahealani Cynthia Richardson.

"Mahealani is the daughter of Robert and Helen Richardson and is a student at the Kamehameha Schools. Some of Mahealani's honors and activities include the National Honor Society in 1989, 1990 and 1991, a Sterling Scholar Award nominee in speech and drama, and placed first in humorous interpretation during the state qualifying tournament. Mahealani likes to dance ballet, jazz and tap, sing in concert glee, and lead the drama club as president to provide fun and energetic outlet for her academic activities.

"Mahealani aspires to have a career in advertising and communications. Her college choice is the University of Pennsylvania and she was recently accepted to attend that fine university.

"Let's honor Mahealani Richardson."

The honoree rose to be recognized and was presented the congratulatory Senate certificate by Senator Tungpalan and lei by Senator Crozier. Ms. Corlis Chang, chaperone, accompanied the young ladies.

Senator Tungpalan then introduced Mahealani's parents, Bob and Helen Richardson, and grandmother, Mrs. Shim, who were seated in the gallery.

Senator McMurdo then introduced members of the 25th Infantry Division, the "Tropic Lightning" Division, on the occasion of their 50th anniversary as follows:

"Mr. President and members of this honorable body, it gives Senator Gerald Hagino and me a great deal of pleasure to introduce to you, members of the 25th Infantry Division (Light) 'Tropic Lightning' on this the occasion of their 50th anniversary. The 25th Division, it can truly be said is Hawaii's own. This division was activated on October 1, 1941 at Schofield Barracks, Territory of Hawaii, from elements of the famous old Hawaiian Division, and from two Hawaii National Guard regiments. The guard units were the 27th and 35th Infantry Regiment and the 298 Infantry.

"The division had a distinguished service record including the battles of Guadalcanal, the Solomon Islands, and the Philippines during World War II. Six Medals of Honor were awarded to division soldiers during that war.

"In June 1950, hostilities began in Korea and the 'Tropic Lightning' Division was one of the first units sent to Korea under United Nations orders. For its role in Korea, the division received two Presidential Unit Citations of Korea. Thirteen division soldiers were awarded Medals of Honor.

"Again, when the Vietnam War began, the 25th Infantry Division met the challenge. During the Vietnam conflict, 21 Medals of Honor were awarded to our heroic soldiers from the division. During the recently completed 'Desert Storm,' elements from the division did participate in its successful operations.

"It may interest you to know that the shoulder patch of the 'Tropic Lightning' Division is the Taro Leaf reminiscent of its Hawaiian birth. The bolt of lightning symbolizes speed and an aggressive spirit. The red and gold colors are that of the late Hawaiian monarchy.

"Needless to say, in peace time, the 25th Division is renowned for its civic improvements projects in the surrounding areas, especially in Wahiawa. The division has also established orphanages in other countries.

"Mr. President please permit me to introduce to you members of the division on the chamber floor: Brigadier General Marvin L. Covault, Deputy Commander for Support; Command Sergeant Major Jan Schalavin, senior noncommissioned officer in the division; Sergeant Rodney Lewis, Division Noncommissioned Officer of the Year; Corporal Roland Mulgrave, who recently returned from 'Operation Desert Storm.'

"In the gallery are other members of the division, headed by Lt. Col. Richard D. Lyons."

All of the honorees rose to be recognized. Senator McMurdo presented General Covault the congratulatory Senate certificate. Senators A. Kobayashi, Ikeda, Tungpalan and George presented the leis.

Senator McMurdo also introduced members of the Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic Program (MAST) and said:

"Mr. President, we are, today, recognizing the National Department of Defense and the Hawaii Departments of Health, Human Services and Transportation for their efforts in furnishing military helicopters to transport the seriously ill and injured patients to comprehensive medical centers on this island.

"The U.S. Army 45th Support Group's 68th Medical Detachment has provided medical evacuation support consisting of helicopters, pilots, medical personnel and equipment. This program is known to all of you, I'm sure, as MAST. The MAST program has flown over 2,500 missions and transported over 2,000 patients on Oahu. Needless to say, the MAST program has been a most valuable and important public service to this community.

"For all that this program has done for us here, Mr. President, please permit me to introduce the representatives from MAST: Colonel Samuel L. Kendred, Commander, 45th Support Group, and Major Edward W. Rawls, Commander, 68th Medical Detachment, who are seated on the floor of the Senate.

"In the gallery, seated with Dr. Peter Sybinsky of the Health Department are Lt. Col. Tucker and other members of the MAST program."

The honorees rose to be recognized. Senator McMurdo presented the congratulatory Senate certificate to Colonel Kendred and Senators A. Kobayashi and Ikeda presented the leis.

Senator Hagino added his comments as follows:

"Mr. President, I would just like to echo the comments of the previous speaker. The Senators and audience have already heard the good Senator from Waikiki give a very impressive list of accomplishments of the 25th Infantry, and I'd just like to extend a warm thank you from the community. I think you realize how important you are to the community.

"I'm particularly proud of your community involvement with such projects as the collection of books and clothes that the Lions Club from Wahiawa has annually conducted and your part in having them transported to Korea for the orphans there. I'm particularly proud of the division's involvement with the schools they have adopted in the community. They have proved a very valuable resource to the schools. Thank you very much."

Senator Ikeda then recognized and introduced Captain Samuel Taylor, seated on the floor of the Senate, as follows:

"Mr. President, as we all know, people make a community what it is and while all of us are proud of the communities we represent, there are certain people who stand out in their efforts to make our community and the world a better place. Captain Taylor is one of these people.

"Capt. Samuel Taylor served in the Coast Guard for 33 years. As a retired captain of the Coast Guard and a father whose children are now grown, Capt. Taylor devotes his time to the children of Kamiloiki Elementary School. He protects them as a crossing guard, supervises them in their playground activities, and heads the school's junior police officers. He also tutors and encourages students who are having trouble with their school work. And it is this loving encouragement that fosters students to call him 'grandpa' or 'the captain.'

"I had the pleasure of speaking with Capt. Taylor earlier and he told me just how he got involved. He said that his neighbor's son came home a couple of times complaining about the fact that his lunch money had been taken. And so the neighbor, knowing that Capt. Taylor was retired, asked him if he wouldn't walk his son to school, which he obligingly did. After doing that for a period of time the teachers at Kamiloiki who are quite sharp noticed that he came in every morning and said to him, 'We could use some help. We notice you come to the school every day. How about staying a little while longer and helping out?' He obliged them and did.

"Five years ago, they needed a crossing guard and they asked Capt. Taylor. Of course, he again said that he would do the job. All of this time, he didn't realize that by taking the job of a crossing guard that he was going to get paid. He did all of these things out of the goodness of his heart and not for any kind of consideration.

"It's a great honor to introduce to this body this morning Capt. Samuel Taylor."

The honoree rose to be recognized and was presented the congratulatory Senate certificate by Senator Ikeda and received a lei.

Senator Ikeda then recognized the Retail Merchants of Hawaii and introduced the representatives, seated on the floor of the Senate, as follows:

"Mr. President, also part of a very integral part of our community are the Retail Merchants of Hawaii. They are a thousand-member strong trade association and they were established in 1901 by a handful of merchants who were the core of business at that time. Today, the Retail Merchants of Hawaii are a key industry in the State of Hawaii made up of small 'mom and pop' shops as well as many other diversified stores.

"One of the main functions of the organization is to play a role in prompting integrity and quality in business and ethics in commerce, community and consumer affairs. The retail industry has worked to enhance the quality of life and development of the community while being a conscientious member of our community.

"Three members of the association are here today to represent the Retail Merchants of Hawaii and I would like to introduce them. First of all, Colin Miyabara, chairman of the board. He is also the general manager of Honolulu Bookstores for the last 12 years, and his goal as chairman of the board is to provide service to the industry and the community.

"Barbara Mason is the 1991 Retailer of the Year. She is a former senior vice president of stores at Liberty House where she spent 23 years. Barbara came to Honolulu from New York where she was employed with Lord & Taylor, never to return. She has been here and spent the last 43 years in the retailing industry.

"Sharon Ro is the president of the Retail Merchants of Hawaii and the first female to serve as its executive. One of her main responsibilities is to oversee the programs of work of the organization which includes legislation, marketing and promotions, as well as program development for retailing. Sharon works to assist retailers in conducting quality business and to enhance the quality of life in Hawaii by making a difference not just in retailing, but in all sectors of the community.

All of the honorees rose to be recognized. Senator Ikeda presented the congratulatory Senate certificate to Mr. Miyabara and all of the honorees received leis.

Senator Ikeda also introduced two members of the association, seated in the gallery: Mr. Sidney Kosasa, president of Thrifty Drugs of Hawaii (ABC Discount Stores); and Mr. Goro Arakawa, past retailer of the year and officer of Arakawa Store in Waipahu.

Senator Crozier then said:

"Mr. President, Goro Arakawa is truly a pillar of the Waipahu community. I have worked with him for quite a few years and we appreciate his service to the greater Waipahu community.

"And, Mr. President, Sidney Kosasa and I were neighbors. His son and I grew up together as little children and I probably learned my ABCs at your wife's knees, Mr. Kosasa.

"Remember, last year I asked for your support, as well as the support of other merchants in town, to remove zig zag paper from the shelves of your stores? Zig zag paper is the paper that is used to smoke pakalolo. Mr. Kosasa owns the ABC Discount Stores and when he received the letter of request, by that afternoon, every zig zag paper had been removed from the shelves of his stores. Thank you very much, Sir."

Senator Crozier then introduced Mrs. Emogene Martin and Mr. Fred Toupes of the Friends of Ewa, which is celebrating 100 years of plantation life in Hawaii Ewa Plantation Company and has a display on the chamber level of the state Capitol.

Senator Crozier, on behalf of Senator Aki, then recognized and introduced Master Joshua Oclaray and Fire Captain Ed Gabriel as follows:

"Mr. President, today, we have Master Joshua Oclaray, a second grader from Kamaile Elementary School, who has won a contest. It is for his achievements in the Fire Fighter's Safety Guide Contest which is a statewide competition, sponsored by the First Interstate Bank and coordinated by Captain Gabriel of the Honolulu Fire Department.

"Any student in grades one to six is eligible to participate in this contest. In other words, 150,000 young individuals are made aware of their responsibility in case of a fire. The purpose of the contest is to educate children about fire prevention and awareness. The contest involves a series of activities: Developing and preventing a fire safety plan for his/her home; solving mathematical problems, writing a creative essay relating to fire prevention and awareness; and completing five crossword puzzles relating to the subject. The home safety plans are assessed for completeness, neatness, and color effects. The mathematics portion, creative writing, and crossword puzzles are graded and rated by teachers.

"All of this came about because of Capt. Gabriel who started the program. He enlisted not only the Honolulu Fire Department but it is a concerted effort of the firemen from the Counties of Maui, Kauai and the Big island, DOE, the general community, especially the business community.

"At this time, I'd like to introduce Master Joshua Oclaray, the contest winner. With him are his parents Michael and Juanita Oclaray and school principal, Michael Miyamura."

"I would also like to introduce Fire Captain Ed Gabriel who has taken much time and effort to coordinate the Fire Fighter Safety Guide contest."

The honorees rose to be recognized and Senator Crozier presented the respective congratulatory Senate certificates. Senators A. Kobayashi, McMurdo, George, Tungpalan and Yamasaki presented leis to the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Oclaray and Mr. Miyamura.

Senator Crozier also introduced Assistant Fire Chief Henry Kaalekahi, Battalion Chief E. Suemoto and a group of firefighters from the Kakaako Fire Station who have assisted in the Fire Fighter Safety Guide contest. The gentlemen were seated in the gallery and rose to be recognized.

At 12:01 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:11 o'clock p.m.
