Senator Solomon then rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I feel compelled at this time to report to you that your Senate committees were ready to deck our bills on Friday. I have attended numerous conference committee meetings, Mr. President, and I was shocked and embarrassed when we met with the House conferees and were politely informed, Mr. President, that they would deck their bills on Monday. I then checked with the Majority Leader and asked if there was any official documentation in that regard.

"Mr. President, on a point of information of the Chair, I would like to inquire if there is any official documentation sent over from the House requesting that we in the Senate had agreed to a change in the internal deadline?"

The Chair responded: "There is no such memo."

"Mr. President, I find that embarrassing and appalling.

"Mr. President, all of your committees were negotiating in good faith. I sat in numerous conference committee meetings where the House indicated to us, 'Why rush? Why worry? We have till Monday to deck our bills.' We in the Senate continued to negotiate in good faith, Mr. President, because we have an obligation, an obligation to the State of Hawaii, to the people out there who are waiting for the outcome of many, many bills that they were so interested in.

"I was also appalled, Mr. President, by the blatant violation of rules that we had set up on how we would conduct our conference committees. We met with the House on the first pass. We threw our disagreements and agreements across. We came on the second pass. In many, many conference committees the Senate accepted the House amendments. The House accepted the Senate amendments. And then just in the last moment when we came to an agreement the House asked for reconsideration.

"Mr. President, how can we negotiate business in good faith if the House is unwilling to comply to the very rules that they themselves had agreed to? If that's the case, Mr. President, why have rules? Why have internal deadlines? And I'm speaking, Mr. President, I am speaking as the Majority Floor Leader in defense of the majority subject matter committees that got their work done on time. They've made concessions so that we could deck those bills on Friday.

"Mr. President, this cannot continue. We should have some kind of agreement, or at least the House should have the courtesy to notify us.

"The budget bill, Mr. President, was the only bill that we had an understanding that there was some 'pilikia,' we had no understanding on other bills.

"At this time, Mr. President, I'd like to make a recommendation for the President's consideration that all bills that were not decked on Monday should be killed. And this message should be sent to the House.

"Thank you very much."

Senator Cobb also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Briefly, with a certain degree of reluctance, Mr. President, I would like to rise on a point of personal privilege.

"What we have witnessed over the last week is sort of a recurring drama that happens virtually every year and is a classic example of negotiating under the Russian plan. And there are always three elements to negotiating under the Russian plan. One is to say, 'What's mine is mine; what's your's is negotiable. Come let us reason together.' The second is to make unreasonable demands. And the third is to always ignore deadlines. All three of those elements in classic form are available on a recurring basis again this year.

"I note that a petition is being circulated for an extension of the session, and it just seems to be a matter of routine that on the first Monday when we're due to adjourn in April that such a petition appears as if by rote from somebody's word processor. The wording is the same, only the date is changed. And I personally would like to express a degree of reluctance in signing such a petition since it seems to be done, one, on such a routine basis and, two, there's been no specific agreement as to whether or not all bills will be extended. There's been no official notice of that fact as alluded to by the Majority Floor Leader. And I think she is speaking for this member of the Majority, as well. And three, we seem to be losing sight of one of the most important elements of the legislative process and, that is, respect for deadlines which are followed only when it's convenient and which are changed also when it's convenient.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Iwase also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise in support of the statements made by the Majority Floor Leader.

"I'm the new Senator here. I'm a freshman and it's my first opportunity to observe the process. But I also recognize the importance of setting deadlines, setting rules, and abiding by them. The deadlines in this case compel all members of this body, as well as the House, to make decisions about the budget and about other bills. In that regard, those of us who sit on conference committees sit down in good faith, negotiate in good faith, secure commitments from the other side, and expect that those commitments be adhered to.

"We also expect that the rules of the game do not change. We don't change the rules in the middle of a football game. We don't go to the referee and say that the rules are now not first and 10 but first and 15. We do not have situations where like sands in the shifting desert we change; we don't know what's happening out there. We have to have a level playing field.

"Because we have a continuation of this kind of shifting from the rules, we've run into some difficulties here. Because of that we are now faced with an extension of this Legislature, an extension which appears to be unpopular. I have received calls about it. And because of that too, we leave in the pike very important projects beyond courthouses on the Big Island, which are in the tsunami zone, school construction and improvement for our children, shelter for our homeless, and transportation improvements for those suffering through intolerable traffic congestion.

"Mr. President, I have before me the state of the state address by Governor Waihee. I have also before me a newspaper, Sunday's edition of the Advertiser which talks about the growing budget of the state and the city. The Senate has attempted to adhere to the state of the state address of Governor Waihee. We have moved forward to fund projects for the homeless, for transportation, for economic development, for the visitor industry. I do not recall seeing in this state of the state address as the No. 1 priority for the State of Hawaii a courthouse on the Big Island.

"We have also attempted, in the course of our deliberations, to recognize the need for economic stability. We have attempted to craft a capital improvement budget which will do just that. We seem to be running into some difficulty over some who wish to continually add to the capital improvement budget. I hope that we will not allow such projects to have other more important projects wither on the vine because of some building which may be located in a tsunami area.

"I would ask that all of those who are in deliberations come back to their responsibilities, come home to their responsibilities which I believe is economy and common sense.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator B. Kobayashi also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and remarked:

"Mr. President, I speak in support of the first speaker.

We have a bicameral legislature and so long as we have a bicameral legislature certain things must be abided to. One of the things that the Senate tried to do in good faith was try to adjourn on time as much as possible. That did not seem possible on Friday. Nonetheless, conferees were trying to finish up as many items as possible so that we would not have too many things potentially holding us up this week when we started today's session. The fact that there are a number of bills, non-fiscal bills, that are currently supposedly in conference and supposedly still alive increases the likelihood that there might be an adjournment for matters other than fiscal and budget items.

"I think that we should have a very clear understanding that we on the Senate side have proceeded in good faith, tried to accomplish the people's business and our business on time with a timely adjournment to the extent possible. The fact that the House seems to have had indications from their leadership that they had a second deadline which we were not aware of put your conferees at a disadvantage in terms of negotiation. And that disadvantage, I think, is something that we cannot tolerate. We have to have a level playing field not only in terms of the rules of the game but also the negotiation table. And if the negotiation tables are tilted toward one side because of a difference of deadlines, I think this is a disadvantage in this case against the Senate.

"We should at this point ask the House and Senate leadership to get together to try to adjourn on time and proceed to have as clear as possible rules that are the same on both sides of the table. Thank you."

Senator McMurdo also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak on a point of personal privilege on the same subject.

"When we began getting the feedback that the House had a different internal deadline, it was quite demoralizing to the staff who were working so hard to try to meet the deadlines which were set and for many bills that was Thursday not Friday, and that's where we were already hearing that oh, it didn't matter. Not only is this demoralizing to the staff, it sort of makes everybody wonder just what is going on.

"Over the weekend, I am sad to say that everywhere I went somebody came up and criticized the Legislature, Mr. President, not the House, the Legislature. So in effect the Senate, and those of us who had tried to get the job done as we were instructed to, and had agreed to, were tarred with the same brush. I think it's high time ... I've only been here seven years and I know there are many of you who've been in much longer and have never finished the session on time -- I think it's about time we took a good look at this and tried to meet on common ground to get this kind of thing settled. It costs money, it causes inconvenience, and it generally is not a very good way to do business.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

Senator Cobb again rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, historian George Santayana said it and Robert F. Kennedy often repeated it, 'Those who forget history are condemned to repeat it.' And I remember a long time ago in a different galaxy when as a freshman legislator you led me through the winter land of Siberia in the House, and that was the year when we had no CIP and no special authority of an operating budget. We went home, on time. And that event had a very salutary effect on future negotiations because after that event it was the rule, not the exception, to adjourn on time, and to adjourn with a budget and with a CIP.

"Now, if we look at the last ten years, eight out of those ten years we've had extensions. We have to look now for exceptions when we adjourn on time, and those are few and far in between.

"Mr. President, I for one am prepared to go home as soon as the remaining bills that have already been decked have been passed, even if that means no budget and no CIP. And if we do not pass a budget, the law very clearly states that the Governor has the authority to continue spending at the authorized levels from the previous Legislature. I think, Mr. President, an event like that would have a salutary effect and, after tonight, I for one will be prepared to make a motion to adjourn sine die, with or without a budget or CIP.

"Thank you."

Senator Yamasaki also rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I would like to add my comments under the request for a point of personal privilege.

"This morning through KHVH I learned that the Speaker made a public announcement or was interviewed saying that the hang-up is on the $74 million Judiciary project in Hilo. He also made a comment on the proviso that he has tried to tighten up on the flexibility that the administration has in the budget. He said that just as the governor needs flexibility he also needs the flexibility in running the state House; that he needs to transfer funds for research and if he cannot do it he would be hamstrung.

"I think that the House has broken the rules of the game. The Speaker had said that all releases on the budget would be done jointly, as we have done in the past. We in the Senate have kept a tight lip on what is going on. You know that the press has been coming after us to see what kind of progress we are making. We have said that we are moving along and that we think we can wrap up the budget, but, the House has broken the rules and all flood gates are now open.

"Thank you."

Senator Solomon then rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, rising to comment on the previous speaker's remarks.

"Mr. President, what I find frustrating is the Senate getting messages from the House through the media.

"Mr. President, did you receive any official word in regard to the previous speaker's remarks?"

The Chair answered:

"The response from the Chair is 'no.' We were not notified by the House."

Senator Solomon continued:

"Mr. President, I find this devastating. Devastating, Mr. President, to the point where I think we really have to think this over and come up with a response. I'm hoping that our leadership would get together. I'm hoping that the Majority Leader would see fit to reconvene the leadership to try to work out this situation with the House. I'm simply in shock about this information that has just been presented to us from the Ways and Means chairman. Thank you."

Senator Blair also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, I agree with the previous speaker to the extent that there needs to be a meeting of the House and Senate leadership to discuss a number of matters, but I want to be sure that we don't paint with too broad a brush. With respect to the conference committees that I chaired my counterparts in the House did attempt in each instance to meet the deadlines as set. So, while there may be reasons to complain, we should be cautious not to use too broad a brush. Thank you."

Senator Cobb, on a point of information, asked:

"Mr. President, will we be having an evening session so that we can pass all remaining bills and be prepared to adjourn sine die?"

The Chair said:

"We will have an evening session."

Senator Reed also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, at the risk of changing the subject, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

"Senate Rules, Rule No. 82 entitles questions to State officer, as I'm sure you're aware, Mr. President, this rule allows any member of the Senate to ask any question of any state officer and receive a response within 24 hours. And given the presence of Mr. Paty in the audience, I don't want to miss the opportunity. The rules require that I read the letter that will be delivered today to Mr. Paty:

'Dear Mr. Paty,

'Pursuant to Senate Rule No. 82, this is to request your answers to the following questions:

'No. 1, why have you not responded to my numerous requests for a copy of the Department of Land and Natural Resources investigative report concerning the Pacific Whale Foundation, and

'No. 2, when will a copy of that report be made available to me?

'Sincerely,

'Rick Reed, Senator.'

At 12:06 o'clock p.m., on motion by Senator Solomon, seconded by Senator Reed and carried, the Senate stood in recess until 5:00 o'clock p.m.

Senator Tungpalan rose to speak in support of the measure and said:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the family leave bill before us.

"I believe this is one of the most important pieces of social legislation we have considered this session.

"The bill establishes a minimum labor standard and guarantees that qualified employees shall have the right to take leave to care for seriously ill family members, or for the birth or adoption of a child. The bill acknowledges that family concerns are workplace concerns and enables workers to better balance work and family responsibilities.

"As with most pieces of legislation, Senate Bill 818, conference draft 1, is a result of compromise, applying first to public employees and then moving on to the private sector. It's the product of many people's work.

"I want to extend my thanks to the Ways and Means chairman, Senator Yamasaki, and to the Labor Committee chair, Senator Mizuguchi, as well as my aloha and mahalo to chairman Souki who allowed this bill to pass out of the Finance Committee, and to Mr. Takamine, the House Labor Committee chair, who spent many hours negotiating on this matter to produce the bill that we have before us.

"I have several other comments that I did want to have incorporated in the Journal. I don't want to belabor the point, but I do want to stress that this was a very important measure and one that needs to be thanked so generously to all the members who worked so very hard on it.

"Aloha also is extended to all the members of the Women's Caucus for without their support we would not have this measure before us.

"Thank you, Mr. President."

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, Conf. Com. Rep. No. 123 was adopted and S.B. No. 818, S.D. 1, H.D. 2, C.D. 1, entitled: "A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO FAMILY LEAVE," having been read throughout, passed Final Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

We, Richard S. H. Wong, President of the Senate, and Daniel J. Kihano, Speaker of the House of Representatives, of the Sixteenth Legislature of the State of Hawaii pursuant to the power vested in us by Section 10, Article III of the Constitution of the State of Hawaii, and at the written request of two-thirds of the members to which each house is entitled, do hereby extend the Regular Session of 1991 of the Sixteenth Legislature of the State of Hawaii for a period of Two Days beyond the Sixtieth day of the 1991 Regular Session, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, holidays and any days in recess pursuant to a concurrent resolution.

/s/ Richard S.H. Wong
RICHARD S.H. WONG
President of the Senate

/s/ Daniel J. Kihano
DANIEL J. KIHANO
Speaker of the House of Representatives."

At 5:34 o'clock p.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 5:36 o'clock p.m.

Senator Solomon then rose to speak on a point of personal privilege and stated:

"Mr. President, I was one of the Senators who did not sign the proclamation for the extension and I'd like to go on record as to my reasons why.

"Mr. President, my reason is primarily because of the violation of the internal deadlines that were set. As Majority Floor Leader, I feel obligated to vote 'no' on the extension. Thank you."

Senator Cobb also rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. President, except for the statement of being the Majority Floor Leader, I'd like to incorporate the Senator from the Third District's remarks as my own.

"I clearly recognize our responsibility that if we have an issue or dispute that cannot be resolved that we extend ourselves. But I think that it's been too much of a recurring pattern in the last ten years, eight out of ten, and this will make it nine out of eleven years that we have failed to adjourn on time and, thus, failed to respect the deadlines.

"I appreciate the sentiments and remarks of the Majority Floor Leader and as the other Senator who did not sign the petition would like to ask that her remarks so be incorporated. Thank you."

ADJOURNMENT

At 5:38 o'clock p.m., on motion by Senator Solomon, seconded by Senator Reed and carried, the Senate adjourned until 11:30 o'clock a.m., Tuesday, April 30, 1991.
