'RELATING TO EDUCATION.'

S.B. NO. 2115
'PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE I, SECTION 4, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF HAWAII TO EXPAND THE CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEE OF FREE SPEECH TO QUASI-PUBLIC FACILITIES.'

Respectfully,

/s/ Paul T. Kawaguchi
PAUL T. KAWAGUCHI
Clerk of the Senate"

At 11:59 o'clock a.m., the Senate stood in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

The Senate reconvened at 12:04 o'clock p.m.

THIRD READING

S.B. No. 2032, S.D. 3:

Senator Taniguchi, moved that S.B. No. 2032, S.D. 3, having been read throughout, pass Third Reading, seconded by Senator Hanabusa.

Senator Sakamoto rose and said:

"Mr. President, I understand that people have concerns about the kindergarten age issue and we're discussing it with some early education people and others.

"Hopefully there'll be continued room for input as the issue moves forward, but I ask for people's support at this point."

Senator Kanno rose to speak against the measure as follows:

"Mr. President, I rise to speak against the measure.

"Mr. President, I'd first like to start off by thanking the Chair of the Education Committee for entertaining the amendment today because I think it is an improvement to the bill – looking at a readiness test for those children who feel that they should qualify to start with kindergarten although their birthday falls later than the date.

"I think, though, that there's another segment of the community that we also need to pay attention to which is those children who will not be entering kindergarten and who will not be entering preschool either, and who will have to, for lack of not having an opportunity for other educational opportunities, really sit at home for a year. If you look at the research on early childhood development, really the key period for the development of the brain comes before the age of five. That's why we are looking at and exploring ways to provide preschool opportunities for more and more of our children.

"I think it goes really for the whole educational system that if you look at those students who are going to excel and do well, they'll really do well in whatever environment they get placed in. I think our concern really needs to go to those children who may be termed borderline who really struggle with the current educational system and run a risk of falling between the cracks.

"I think with this bill, I probably would be more open to the bill if we had provided in the legislation a guarantee that if a child was held back because of their birth date, that they'd be guaranteed a space in a preschool program, and if there wasn't a preschool program available, they could start kindergarten as a last resort, and possibly, following the spirit of the bill, maybe they would attend kindergarten for two years. I think this would be a better situation than having that child sit at home for a year with no opportunity of preschool, no opportunity for an educational program and really the key time for their brain to develop, and not have the educational opportunities that children from other neighborhoods may have.

“So, for those reasons, I’ll be voting ‘no’ against the bill. I would ask the Chair to continue to look at this segment of the population, for they will be falling between the cracks. Thank you.”

Senator Hogue rose to speak in favor of the measure and said:

“Mr. President, I rise to speak in favor of the bill, and I want to address the concerns from the good Senator of the West side.

“Really, the most critical time for any child’s upbringing are those first few years, and I think if they are at home working with their parents where their parents can read to them, where their parents can give them opportunities, that is a critical, critical time. We don’t need to force them into the school system when they are too immature, when they might end up falling between the cracks, to use your words, over many, many years.

“If you come into the school system behind, immature, you will stay behind for many, many years. So I think that maturity is really a strong key here and a key factor as to the reason for this bill.

“Both of my parents are teachers. I know that they have strongly advocated early learning. They’ve done a great job, and I think that we should encourage parents to do this at home. I think that allowing the children to stay at home for another year and mature and to get this added involvement with their parents is a very, very good opportunity for them, so I will be voting ‘yes.’

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

The motion was put by the Chair and carried, S.B. No. 2032, S.D. 3, entitled: “A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO EDUCATION,” having been read throughout, passed Third Reading on the following showing of Ayes and Noes:

Ayes, 24. Noes, 1 (Kanno).

Senator Chumbley rose on a point of personal privilege as follows:

“Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

“Colleagues, in the spirit of fun, you know, it’s hard to be him. It takes a tremendous, tremendous amount of energy, and I’m referring to the good Senator from God’s country. The good Senator from Waipahu reminds me of characters and themes that are used to market products. First, he reminds me of the Eveready bunny – he keeps going, and going, and going, and keeps banging, and banging, and going, and banging. Then he reminds me of a Timex watch – he takes a lickin and keeps on tickin. (Laughter.)

“Over the past few years, just like that Eveready bunny, he’s kept going and going, and at the same time, he keeps banging those cymbals and banging and banging. But recently, like the Timex watch, he’s been taking a licking here on the floor on various bills. But he keeps on ticking; he keeps on going and going.

“I’ve noticed that his level of energy has been dropping as a result of that, but this good Senator is a very jovial person and he seems to be in his best spirit when he’s wearing his character ties. Of course today, he has on his Snoopy tie. Therefore, in an attempt to increase his level of energy so that he can keep on banging and banging and going and taking these lickings, on behalf of all of us today, I’d like to ask the Sergeant of Arms to bring out something to present to the good Senator. (The Sergeant-at-Arms presented Senator Kawamoto with an array of various ties with cartoon characters on them.) (Laughter.)

“We have a collection of ties for this gentleman. There’s a Bugs Bunny tie, a Tweety Bird tie, a Mickey Mouse tie, a Donald Duck tie, Aladdin, Wiley Coyote. There’s one tie, though, that I think that he should wear that depicts him the best, and that’s Dudley Do-Right. (Laughter.)

“So, Senator Kawamoto, even though you’ve received these ties from all of us, I want you to know that it doesn’t mean that we’re not going to continue to vote ‘no’ on some of those bills that you keep presenting to us. So, thank you for banging and going and taking all the hard lickings.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Kawamoto rose to respond as follows:

“Mr. President, I accept these ties in good faith and good honor and I accept all those ‘noes’ that turn to ‘ayes’ later on. (Laughter.) Thank you very much.”

Senator Matsunaga rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Mr. President, I rise on a point of personal privilege.

“Mr. President, I, too, want to share in the praise of my colleague from East Maui for the Senator from God’s country. I also want to assure the Senator from God’s country that these ties are not simply meant to allow his detractors to grab his neck in another fashion. (Laughter.)

“I understand that so many people have been screaming for his neck and I’m confident that my colleague from Maui has simply meant that if they ever do get a hold of his neck, it will certainly be by a 13/12 vote. (Laughter.) But if they ever do get a hold of his neck, at least now it will be adorned with style, with fashion, and with panache.

“Thank you, Mr. President.”

Senator Hogue rose on a point of personal privilege and said:

“Mr. President, I also rise on a point of personal privilege.

“I’m glad to see that the Senator from God’s country is in the Tie Caucus along with the good Senator from Kailua/Waimanalo and the good Senator from East Maui.

“Speaking of caucuses or cockeyed, as they will, I wanted to bring up a spell check on the caucus that the good Senator from East Maui recognized the other day. He spoke to being a member of the wine caucus, but was the spelling of that w-i-n-e or w-h-i-n-e? (Laughter.)

“Thank you.”

Senator Chumbley rose to respond as follows:

“Mr. President, may I respond?”

“Based on the way I was acting the other day, I think it might be w-h-i-n-e. Thank you.” (Laughter.)

ADJOURNMENT

At 12:15 o’clock p.m., on motion by Senator English, seconded by Senator Hemmings and carried, the Senate adjourned until 11:30 o’clock a.m., Friday, March 8, 2002.

Respectfully submitted,

Clerk of the Senate
