A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO THE REGULATORY LICENSING REFORM ACT.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

1 SECTION 1. The Hawaii Regulatory Licensing Reform Act, Act 2 70, Session Laws of Hawaii 1977, was enacted in response to a 3 growing concern over the rapid proliferation of professional and 4 vocational licensing boards and commissions, and the perception 5 that these served the interests of the regulated industry, 6 rather than the interests of the consumer. Act 70 set forth 7 criteria to be used to evaluate and determine whether existing 8 regulatory programs should be modified or discontinued. The 9 criteria were codified in section 26H-2, Hawaii Revised 10 Statutes.

11 Under Act 70, each chapter regulating a profession or 12 vocation was scheduled for repeal. The statutorily-created 13 board or commission of the regulated profession or vocation was 14 required to assess whether its statutory program complied with 15 the section 26H-2 criteria, and to submit a report to the 16 legislature one year prior to the applicable repeal date. New 17 legislation was required to continue regulatory programs 18 reviewed under Act 70.

1 In 1979, the review component of this automatic review and 2 repeal law was amended to require that assessments be performed 3 by the auditor. This amendment was made to "better provide for consumer interests. . . [and] a more objective viewpoint in 4 5 assessing the value of the particular regulation under review." 6 Recognizing that automatic review of every existing professional 7 or vocational regulatory program consumed a disproportionate amount of the auditor's limited resources, in 1994 the 8 9 legislature restricted automatic review and repeal to 10 professional or vocational regulatory programs enacted after 11 July 1, 1994. The legislature further limited this procedure in 12 1996 to regulatory programs actually listed in section 26H-4, 13 Hawaii Revised Statutes.

14 The legislature finds that existing policies and procedures amplify the influence of special interests and should be re-15 16 examined to more fairly represent the interest of the general public. In addition, the legislature finds that the question of 17 18 whether the activities of a professional or vocational 19 regulatory program further the policies that have been 20 identified by the legislature as justifying regulation is a 21 question best resolved through an assessment performed by an 22 objective and informed agency like the auditor. Once the
