Report Title:

Conservation District Penalties

Description:

Increases the maximum penalty for violations within the Conservation District and authorizes the Board of Land and Natural Resources to assess fines based on damages to natural resources within the Conservation District.

JUSTIFICATION SHEET

DEPARTMENT: Land and Natural Resources

TITLE: A BILL FOR AN ACT RELATING TO PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS WITHIN THE CONSERVATION DISTRICT.

PURPOSE: To increase the maximum fine for violations within the Conservation District; and to authorize the Board of Land and Natural Resources to assess fines based on damages to natural resources within the Conservation District.

MEANS: Amend section 183C-7(b), Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS).

JUSTIFICATION: The Conservation District contains important lands and natural resources essential to preservation of the State's fragile ecosystems and the sustainability of its water supply.

The Department has recently experienced a rash of violations involving the unauthorized use of conservation-zoned lands throughout the State. This is likely the result of several misperceptions and socio-economic conditions: (1) that it is cheaper to deal with the consequences of the enforcement process than to deal with the permit process; (2) improvement in the Department's enforcement or regulatory divisions have led to the identification and prosecution of more cases; (3) it appears that many large parcels of conservation-zoned land have recently been purchased by individuals or corporations who either do not care about conservation restrictions or who fail to educate themselves about these restrictions; and (4) as urban and agriculture lands approach build out, there is increased pressure to develop conservation-zoned lands.

Section 183C-7(b), HRS, allows for a maximum penalty of $2,000 for a single violation. While this may deter some from committing minor Conservation District violations, it is not a sufficient penalty to deter major unauthorized actions such as the construction of major structures and facilities, single-family residences, and the taking and destruction of native trees or plants or other natural resources in the Conservation District without first obtaining permits. In fiscal year 2006-2007 for example, the Department initiated over 90 enforcement cases and collected approximately $50,000 in penalties.

Of particular concern to the Department are actions such as grading in the Conservation District. Under the existing statute, the Department can assess up to $2,000 for a grading violation, whether 10,000 square feet or 10 acres were graded. The Department has processed a number of cases over the past two years in which the inability to treat these cases differently became an issue.

Lastly, for damage to natural resources, the bill provides the Board of Land and Natural Resources with some leeway in determining an appropriate fine by considering the market value of the natural resource damaged or taken, and such factors as the loss of the natural resource to its natural habitat and environment.

Impact on the public: Would bring attention to the seriousness of desecrating important and precious lands and natural resources.
