
A BILL FOR AN ACT

RELATING TO HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNTS.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF HAWAII:

1 SECTION 1. Health savings accounts are an encouraging 2 development in the health insurance market, creating a new 3 opportunity for affordable coverage and engaging patients as 4 partners in managing costs and achieving high value in health
5 care spending.

6 Health savings accounts combine a tax-advantaged savings
7 account earmarked for medical expenses with a high-deductible
8 health insurance plan. Lower insurance premiums offset, in part 9 or in full, the amount used to fund the account, which, in turn, 10 are used to pay expenses before the deductible is met.

11 Health savings account funds belong to the account holder,
12 and unspent balances accumulate and accrue interest tax-free
13 from year to year. After health care costs reach the high 14 deductible, health plan benefits begin, typically through a 15 preferred provider organization, with little to no cost-sharing 16 and limits on total out-of-pocket expenses.

17 Because patients using health savings account funds are 18 literally spending their own money, they have greater control

1 over their health care decisions, while assuming greater 2 financial responsibility for those decisions. Furthermore, 3 because patients are spending their own money before the 4 deductible is met, high deductibles shift the locus of cost-
5 consciousness, and thus decision-making, from third-party payers
6 to patients and those who care for them. Such cost-
7 consciousness is a welcome antidote to the widening divide 8 between public expectations and rising health care costs and 9 could lessen the need for heavy-handed managed care or 10 government controls. Health savings accounts encourage patients 11 to comparison shop among treatment options, as well as among 12 physicians and hospitals. A critical mass of savvy shoppers is 13 needed to make health care markets more responsive for everyone.

14 In addition, health savings accounts provide a health
15 coverage option to those who prefer to purchase true insurance
16 protection against the financial consequences of low-
17 probability, high-cost events, rather than coverage that, to a 18 large extent, amounts to prepayment of anticipated and routine 19 health care. High deductibles keep premiums down, bringing 20 coverage within reach for many low-income individuals and 21 families.

1 Several features of health savings accounts protect against 2 inappropriate underutilization of care. The savings account 3 itself allows enrollees to set aside money to pay for medical 4 expenses, particularly expenses incurred before the deductible
5 has been met. Federal law requires health savings account high-
6 deductible health plans to provide a stop-loss limit on patient
7 out-of-pocket expenses. A person with a chronic or expensive
8 medical condition could find a health savings account more
9 affordable than conventional coverage because of the premium 10 savings, out-of-pocket spending limits, and tax advantages, in 11 addition to greater control over health care decisions.

12 Although more evidence is needed on the actual impact of 13 health savings accounts on patient behavior and on mechanisms
14 through which such an impact occurs, health savings account 15 coverage may encourage patients to seek health information that 16 prompts greater use of preventive services or adoption of 17 healthy lifestyle habits. Health savings accounts could also 18 increase aversion to behavior that may create future chronic 19 conditions that are expensive to treat.

20 It is imperative that health care leaders come together to 21 discuss ways in which health savings accounts can assume a more 22 meaningful role in health care coverage in Hawaii. Under the

1 Hawaii Prepaid Health Care Act, the director of labor and 2 industrial relations, after advice from the prepaid health care 3 advisory council, determines whether the benefits that are 4 provided in a prepaid health care plan offered by a Hawaii
5 employer comply with specified standards. Issues with the 6 Hawaii Prepaid Health Care Act need to be addressed to determine
7 the role of health savings accounts in Hawaii's health insurance 8 market. Health savings accounts are currently an option under 9 the Hawaii employer-union health benefits trust fund, as well as 10 an option for sole proprietors, self-employed individuals, and 11 those working as part-time employees.

12 The rapidly rising cost of health care is crippling 13 businesses, forcing layoffs and pay reductions. It is important 14 that businesses and health care consumers have access to all 15 health plan options to lower costs and increase the quality of 16 care. Allowing consumers to enroll in a health savings account
17 will help lower the cost of health care, encourage healthier 18 lifestyles, provide greater patient and physician control of 19 health care decisions, and save money for employers and 20 employees alike.

21 The purpose of this Act is to establish a task force to 22 evaluate the current state of health savings accounts options in

1 Hawaii's health insurance market, and to explore ways to expand
2 access to these accounts in Hawaii.

3 SECTION 2. (a) There is established the health savings
4 accounts assessment task force within the department of labor 5 and industrial relations for administrative purposes and 6 consisting of the following members:

7 (1) The director of labor and industrial relations, who 8 shall appoint the task force members by August 1, 9 2010;

10 (2) Two members of the Hawaii prepaid health care advisory 11 council;

12 (3) One member or employee of the Hawaii Medical 13 Association;

14 (4) Two representatives from the health insurance
15 industry;

16 (5) Two representatives from non-government employee
17 unions;

18 (6) One representative from the Hawaii Bankers
19 Association; and

20 (7) Two representatives from other interested 21 organizations or stakeholders, at the discretion of 22 the director of labor and industrial relations.

1 The task force shall elect from among its members a
2 chairperson and any other officers it deems necessary. Members
3 of the task force shall not be compensated.

4 The task force shall convene its initial meeting no later
5 than twenty days after the director of labor and industrial 6 relations has appointed all of the members of the task force.

7 (b) The task force shall:

8 (1) Study the current state of health savings account
9 options in Hawaii's health insurance market;

10 (2) Establish a plan of action to encourage and expand the 11 use of health savings accounts in Hawaii, including 12 potential amendments to the Hawaii Revised Statutes;

13 (3) Identify and recruit health plans that may help expand
14 the availability of health savings accounts in Hawaii;

15 (4) Assess the potential economic impact, including costs
16 and benefits, of expanding health savings account
17 options in Hawaii, and estimate the potential monetary
18 savings for individuals and employers who are offered 19 health savings accounts; and

20 (5) Work to develop a way to implement flexible spending
21 accounts for employee benefit programs that provide a 22 tax deferred method of payment for eligible health

1 care expenses and dependent care expenses by directing 2 pre-tax money from an employee's paycheck into 3 flexible spending accounts, and providing that money
4 left in the flexible spending accounts after all 5 reimbursements have been processed may be carried 6 forward to the next plan year.

7 For the purposes of this subsection, "health savings account" 8 means a tax-deferred personal savings account, as set forth in 9 Internal Revenue Code Section 223, linked to a high-deductible
10 health insurance policy and to which employers, sole 11 proprietors, labor unions, or employees may contribute funds for 12 medical expenses.

13 (c) The task force shall submit to the legislature, 14 through the department of labor and industrial relations, its 15 findings and recommendations, including any proposed 16 legislation, no later than twenty days prior to the convening of 17 the 2011 regular session.

18 (d) The task force shall cease to exist on June 30, 2011.

19 SECTION 3. This Act shall take effect on July 1, 2050.
