

TESTIMONY IN SUPPORT OF THE INTENT OF HB202 - RELATING TO FORECLOSURES

February 4, 2009 at 9:00 a.m.

The Legal Aid Society of Hawaii hereby provides testimony to the House Committee on Housing on HB202 – Relating to the Foreclosures, supporting the intent of the bill, but requesting amendments.

The Legal Aid Society of Hawaii provides free legal services to the low-income population of the State of Hawaii. In 2008, we received over 1,400 calls on housing related cases, approximately 600 of which dealt directly with landlord tenant issues. With the growing number of foreclosures in Hawai'i, we started to receive more calls in 2008 from tenants who were renting properties that were being foreclosed on. In many of these cases tenants are left in situations with no knowledge that a foreclosure is taking place, not knowing who to pay rent to, whether they will have a place to live after the foreclosure and not knowing what will happen to their security deposit.

We believe that this bill does aim to provide some of the initial protections needed by tenants facing eviction due to a foreclosure, however we believe that a comprehensive bill to protect tenants should require:

- (1) Notice to the renter that the property is being foreclosed on, including information on who rent should be paid to and a statement of their rights;
- (2) At least 30 days prior to the sale the owner shall provide notice on the date of the sale shall be sent to the tenant;
- (3) New owners to honor a lease that existed prior to the notice of foreclosure;
- (4) Owners to transfer the security deposit to the new owner; and
- (5) Upon the approval of a sale at auction by a court pursuant to part I of chapter 667 or the recordation of the affidavit and conveyance document pursuant to section 667-33, notice be provided to the tenant by both the owner and new owner that the sale has been completed and that rent shall now be paid to the new owner.

As such, we would recommend that the committee replace the language of this bill with the attached revised bill which incorporates these five provisions.

Thank you for this opportunity to testify.

Sincerely,

Sheila P. Lippolt

A sale at auction may or may not occur as a result of this foreclosure. Currently, the sale of this property has been set for _____ (time, date, and place) or no date for sale of this property has been established. You will receive written notice of the sale at least thirty days before it takes place.

If there is a sale of this property at auction, the following will occur:

If you entered into your rental agreement before _____ (date the foreclosure action was initiated), your current rental agreement shall remain in effect after the purchase, however the new owner is not required to renew the agreement after it expires.

If you entered into your rental agreement after _____ (date the foreclosure action was initiated) and the agreement included a notice of the foreclosure, your rental agreement will become a month-to-month rental agreement on the date a court approves the sale. The new owner may offer to honor your current rental agreement but is not required to do so. You may accept or reject any such offer.

If you entered into your rental agreement after _____ (date the foreclosure action was initiated) and the agreement did not include a notice of the foreclosure, within fourteen days after purchasing the home, the new owner must give you a written offer to honor your current rental agreement. If you do not accept that offer, your rental agreement will become a month-to-month agreement.

During the pendency of the sale, rent shall be paid to the owner with whom you have the rental agreement. Following the sale, both the owner and the new owner shall provide notice to you as to who and where your rent shall be directed. Your security deposit shall be transferred from the owner to the new owner.

Note: With a month-to-month rental agreement, pursuant to Chapter 521, the landlord may terminate the agreement by providing written notice of termination to the tenant at least forty-five days prior to the date of termination and the tenant may terminate the agreement by providing written notice of termination to the landlord at least thirty days prior to the date of termination."

(b) At least thirty days prior to a foreclosure sale, the landlord shall provide to the tenant a copy of the notice of foreclosure sale pursuant to part I of chapter 667 or public notice of public sale pursuant to section 667-27.

§521-B Leases, Foreclosure sale. (a) Except as provided in this section, any rental agreement for a residential property that is the subject of a foreclosure action shall remain in effect upon the approval of a sale at auction by a court pursuant to part I of chapter 667 or the recordation of the affidavit and conveyance document pursuant to section 667-33.

If the tenant does not accept that offer within fourteen days, the rental agreement shall convert to a month-to-month rental agreement.

§521-C Payment of Rent. (a) During the pendency of a sale, rent will continue to be paid to the landlord with whom the tenant has the lease.

(b) Upon the approval of a sale at auction by a court pursuant to part I of chapter 667 or the recordation of the affidavit and conveyance document pursuant to section 667-33, if the tenant is to remain in the property, notice shall be provided to the tenant by both the landlord and new owner as to who and where the rent shall be directed to.

§521-D Security Deposit. Upon the approval of a sale at auction by a court pursuant to part I of chapter 667 or the recordation of the affidavit and conveyance document pursuant to section 667-33, if the tenant is to remain in the property, the owner shall transfer to the new owner the security deposit previously paid by the tenant.

§521-E Remedies. If a landlord or a successor in interest either fails to provide the written notices as required by section 521-A, fails to honor a rental agreement as required by section 521-B; or fails to provide notice to the tenant as to whom rent shall be directed to as required by section 521-C, or if a landlord fails to transfer the tenant's security deposit as required by section 521-D, a tenant may recover, in addition to any other remedy under law:

Re: House Bill 202 (Foreclosure)
Hearing Date/Time: Wednesday, February 4, 2009, 9:00 A.M.

I am the attorney for the Hawaii Financial Services Association ("HFSA"). The HFSA is the trade association for Hawaii's financial services loan companies which are regulated by the Hawaii Commissioner of Financial Institutions.

The HFSA wants to comment on this Bill.

The purpose of this Bill is to require notification of a mortgage foreclosure to the tenant of rental property by the successor in interest prior to termination of the rental agreement and commencement of summary possession proceedings. It provides that holdover tenants are liable to the successor in interest for the pro-rated share of rent and other charges authorized under the previous rental agreement, for each day the tenant remains in possession up until the commencement of summary possession proceedings, after which higher charges authorized under existing law apply.

Based on my experience as an attorney in private practice who has actively handled foreclosures for 31 years since 1978, I would like to make the following comments:

1. It is important that a residential tenant know if his or her rental of a real property will be adversely affected by a foreclosure action against the owner/landlord's interest in that property. The tenant also needs to be given adequate notice before being required to vacate the property.

2. This Bill provides that before the new owner who purchases the real property from a foreclosure sale can terminate any existing rental agreements, the new owner must give the tenant notice 120 days prior to the date of the summary proceeding for possession.

120 days seems to be an excessive amount of time for the new owner to be deprived of that new owner's right to possession of the property. Under the Residential Landlord Tenant Code, a month-to-month tenant needs to be given 45 days advance notice to vacate. That seems reasonable and should apply here.

I am willing to work with your Committee on any revisions to this Bill.

Thank you for considering our comments.

Testimony for HB 202 Relating to Foreclosures

TO: The Honorable Rida Cabanilla, Chair
The Honorable Pono Chong, Vice Chair
Members of the House Committee on Housing

My name is Neal Okabayashi and I testify for the Hawaii Bankers Association. We oppose the bill.

Under this bill, a tenant occupying a home in foreclosure will have a longer eviction period (120 days) than a tenant who becomes a holdover tenant.

As stated in our response to other bills, while we are sympathetic to tenants who occupy a foreclosure property, it is better for the lender to review each case on a case by case basis because we find that a one size fits all approach does not work.

Our primary concerns are: we do not want to chill the bidding process and discourage buyers, and while we prefer to have the property we purchase at foreclosure occupied by a responsible tenant, we also prefer the flexibility to determine if the present tenant is responsible, and not be forced by law to permit the tenant to remain.

For those reasons, we oppose HB 202.

RE: H.B. 202 Relating to Foreclosures

HEARING DATE: Wednesday, February 4, 2009 at 9:00 a.m.

Aloha Chair Cabanilla and Members of the Committee on Housing:

On behalf of our 9,600 members in Hawai'i, the Hawai'i Association of REALTORS® (HAR) wishes to express its support for the intent of H.B. 202 which requires notification of mortgage foreclosure to the tenant.

HAR agrees that tenants who have paid their rents diligently may find that they have to search for another rental unit without having been given adequate time and notice.

We support a notice of 45 days rather than the 120 days as proposed. A 45-day period is aligned with the number of days a landlord must give a tenant to terminate a rental agreement.

Additionally, HAR requests an effective date of November 1, 2009 be inserted so that we may review and revise our form Rental Agreement.

Mahalo for the opportunity to testify.
