In addition, presentations will include information on how everyone in the community can play a role in suicide prevention – most importantly, knowing the warning signs of suicide, how to talk to a loved one who may be suicidal, and how to connect them to appropriate help/resources.

The following organizations have been invited to participate in this briefing:

- Department of Health
- Prevent Suicide Hawaii Task Force
- University of Hawaii, John A. Burns School of Medicine
- Mental Health America of Hawaii
- Community representative of suicide survivors (those who have lost a loved one to suicide)
