Comments:

Please support fishermen and allow them to use the resources for consumption as it was meant to be. We are a part of the food chain, let's not forget that.

Sincerely,

Kelvin K.F. Ching

Comments:

Fishing is an important part of our family life. From when I was very young, I remember my Father and Grandfather returning from overnight fishing trips with a cooler full of fish that we would share with friends, relatives, and neighbors. I grew up in Kealahou, Kona in the coffee farming area. Fishing was not only for recreation, it was to put food on the table. Several of my friends spent their weekends commercial bottom fishing with their fathers. Fishing is an important part of our lives.

Comments:

Government should not be allowed to make any decision on regulation. That is what DLNR is for and you are not letting DLNR make any rules for itself. Beef up DLNR and let them police fishing. We all know DLNR has no resources to police fishing and lay netting. When will the DLNR lay down the law against illegal lay netting done at night?

Comments:

It is important to support things that are an important part of life in Hawaii. Many of us grew up fishing and taking part in other ocean activities. Seafood is also a large part of Island culture.
