
SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REQUESTING STUDIES RELATING TO THE RESEARCH OF ISSUES ARISING FROM THE POTENTIAL IMPLEMENTATION OF A GENETICALLY MODIFIED
ORGANISMS LABELING OR RIGHT-TO-KNOW REGIMEN.

1 WHEREAS, the question of whether to label food products as 2 containing genetically modified organisms (GMO) has garnered
3 much debate throughout the country; and 4

5 WHEREAS, in addition to legislative proposals seeking the 6 labeling of food products containing GMO material, other
7 legislative proposals would seek to establish, as an alternative
8 to GMO labeling, a GMO registration regimen, also known as a 9 right-to-know regimen, where suppliers of genetically modified
10 food products register those food products with a state agency; 11 and 12

13 WHEREAS, before establishing any GMO labeling or GMO
14 registration regimen, it is critical that the relevant issues, 15 as well as the intended and unintended effects, arising from 16 such a course of action be analyzed and understood by members of 17 the Legislature and the agriculture industry, as well as 18 consumers; and 19

20 WHEREAS, relevant issues include: a determination of 21 whether GMO labeling, GMO registration, or the status quo is the 22 preferred action; the economic effects of any labeling or 23 registration requirement on consumers and the local agricultural 24 industry; the costs of implementing such a labeling or 25 registration requirement; and whether food products containing 26 GMO pose any long-term safety threats; now, therefore,
27
