HAWAII AGRICULTURE, ENERGY & EARTH PRODUCTS - HONOKA'A LAND COMPANY TESTIMONY

1. Who we Are:

Honoka'a Land Company, LLC was formed as a subsidiary of Hawaii Agriculture, Energy and Earth Products Company ("HAEE") for the purpose of developing Hawaiian commercial businesses in the areas of agriculture, energy and earth products while creating jobs, contributing locally grown organic food products to Hawaii's economy, and enhancing the communities in which we operate.

A Hawaii Agriculture, Earth Products and Energy Company

2. General Plan for the Company:

45-158 Kia Manu . Honoka'a . HI 96727

The Haina Mill acquisition was completed by HAEE in 2014 with the intent to re-develop this site into our earth products facility. This re-development plan includes updating and renovating existing structures, along with the restoration and development of 28 acres of the site's composting soils and bagasse left behind from the former sugar mill operations (known on the internet as "The Largest Compost Pile in the World"). This diversified facility will produce commercially distributed soils, compost and other earth products.

Hawaii's Favorite Dairysm ("HFD") is the site of the current Cloverleaf Dairy. This acquisition under the HAEE companies is targeted to complete its ownership transition in June of 2017. The conversion of HFD to operating as a Certified Organic Dairy is anticipated to be completed by 2019, operating continuously during this conversion. At full production, HFD anticipates producing 2 million gallons annually of locally produced organic milk. HFD expanded operations contemplates 4 total HFD dairies throughout Hawaii producing more than 10,000,000 gallons per year of locally produced organic milk, cheese, yogurt and ice cream.

3. Benefits to the Community:

The economic impact of HAEE's successful implementation develops extraordinary expansion of Hawaii's food production, has been scored by US Government standards to develop more than 500 direct, indirect and induced jobs and will generate expanded local and state tax revenue. HAEE's commitment to organic farming, renewable energy and providing enhanced earth products availed to others in Hawaii is unparalleled.

4. Use of Funds:

The funds will be directed to the acquisition of property, infrastructure development and production of products and services of HAEE. This includes - but is not limited to - the reparation as well as new construction of buildings; acquisition of existing farms and planting of new crops; improving and expanding dairy operations; formulation of earth products and facilities for creating such products; approvals to expand renewable energy (e.g. solar, wind, hydro-electric, capture methane to electricity, etc.); establishing an eco-tourism trail; and creating structures for an academic environment that ties and expands HAEE's work to education, research & development.
