

Testimony of the Real Estate Commission

Before the House Committee on Intrastate Commerce
Tuesday, February 12, 2019
9:15 a.m.
State Capitol, Conference Room 430

On the following measure:
H.B. 63, RELATING TO REAL ESTATE

Chair Ohno and Members of the Committee:

My name is Michael Pang, and I am the Chairperson of the Hawaii Real Estate Commission (Commission). The Commission strongly supports this measure since it proposes to address an important subject.

The purpose of this bill is to require a high school education or its equivalent as a condition for obtaining a license as a real estate broker or a real estate salesperson.

In 1977, the Legislature established the Hawaii Regulatory Licensing Reform Act under Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS) chapter 26H. The major policy of the Act states, “the purpose of regulation shall be the protection of the public welfare and not that of the regulated profession or vocation” (emphasis added). The Legislature further recognized the necessity of creating additional protections for the public when it established the Commission. The Legislature defined the Commission’s purpose in HRS section 467-4 as “the protection of the general public in its real estate transactions.”

The Commission believes that requiring a high school education as a minimum qualification for licensure ensures that having an educated licensee population is one of the most important ways to protect consumers in their real estate transactions.

Thank you for the opportunity to testify on this bill.

RE: House Bill 63, Relating to Real Estate Licensees

HEARING: Tuesday, February 12, 2019, at 9:15 a.m.

Aloha Chair Ohno, Vice Chair Kobayashi, and Members of the Committee,

I am Ken Hiraki Government Affairs Director, testifying on behalf of the Hawai'i Association of REALTORS® (“HAR”), the voice of real estate in Hawai'i, and its over 9,500 members. HAR supports House Bill 63 which requires a high school education or its equivalent as a condition for obtaining a license as a real estate broker or real estate salesperson.

For over 100 years, the REALTOR® organization has been guided by the Code of Ethics. The Code ensures that consumers are served by requiring REALTORS® to cooperate with each other in furthering their fiduciary responsibilities owed to their clients.

Additionally, professional development and education has been one of the cornerstones of the REALTOR® organization. Some examples range from the creation of professional real estate designations to developing courses that educates REALTORS® on laws and rules the impact the complex and ever-changing real estate transaction.

Hawai'i REALTORS® has been committed to efforts that help raise the bar of professionalism in our industry. As such, requiring a high school education or its equivalent for new real estate brokers or salespersons may help to accomplish that goal.

Mahalo for the opportunity to testify.

Comments:

I support HB 63 for the following reasons.

We are lagging in one of our most basic of educational requirements by not raising the bar to a standard that requires that new real estate licensees have a High School Diploma or General Education Development (GED) equivalency to be licensed as a real estate agent in Hawaii.

Let's face it having a High School Diploma is only one basic litmus test that shows that the individual has some basic social skills. However, a high school education is an education standard that the public can identify with, unlike real estate Continuing Education requirements or real estate designations. The fact is that one of the most important financial decisions in most people's lives is when they purchase real estate.

With the high prices of real estate in Hawaii we need to raise the education bar for new licensees to help protect consumers and have this requirement as a minimal professional standard.

For the reasons above, I feel this is a common-sense bill and I appreciate the opportunity to present written testimony in support of this bill on my own behalf.

I respectfully urge your support of this bill. Thank you for your time and support for this important educational requirement which will help protect consumers.

Aloha,

Bruce R. Faulkner (R), Broker, ePRO, GRI, SFR

Rep. Takashi Ohno, Chair

Committee on Intrastate Commerce

Chair Ohno,

Thank you and the committee for allowing my testimony on HB63. I fully support this measure to require a high school education or its equivalent as a requirement to obtain a real estate broker or real estate salesperson license. This measure is long overdue in my opinion, and I respectfully request that this committee give it their full support. Thank you very much.
