The Department utilizes direct support from the Department of Human Services Child Welfare Services Unit for questions, consultations and referrals regarding sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation of children and thereby supports the establishment of a statewide program and coordinator within the Department of Human Services to address the needs of sexually-exploited children provided it does not affect existing priorities set by the Department of Human Services.

Additionally, the Department supports our law enforcement partners, county prosecutors and community-based partners through the multi-disciplinary team response model.

The Department remains committed to its membership to multiple government working groups including the Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Steering Committee, the Inter-agency Advisory Committee and Sexual Violence Prevention Education Working Group. These groups focus on a collective inter-agency response to the various types of child abuse and the abuse continuum in Hawaii. 1 Department Position: The Department of Health (Department) SUPPORTS THE INTENT of 2 this measure and offers the following COMMENTS AND SUGGESTED AMENDMENTS.

3 Department Testimony: The subject matter of this measure falls within the scope of the 4 Department's Behavioral Health Administration (BHA) whose statutory mandate is to assure a
5 comprehensive statewide behavioral health care system by leveraging and coordinating public,
6 private and community resources. Through the BHA, the Department is committed to carrying 7 out this mandate by reducing silos, ensuring behavioral health care is readily accessible, and
8 person centered. The BHA's, Child and Adolescent Mental Health Division (CAMHD) provides
9 the following testimony on behalf of the Department.

10 The Department of Health (DOH) supports the intent of this bill and offers comments.

11 The state can be proud of the tremendous effort put forth by multiple agencies and stake holders
12 in the initial development of a systemic response to commercially sexually exploited children.
13 This effort requires the interfacing of policy makers, law enforcement, state agencies, treatment
14 providers, private entities and the public at large to develop this comprehensive system response.
15 By establishing a dedicated statewide coordinator and developing a formalized infrastructure,
16 these efforts can be furthered by increasing awareness, gathering reliable data, providing

18 treatments, monitoring progress, training relevant partners and educating the public.

1 Offered Amendments: The Department of Health recommends that the Statewide Coordinator

SUBJECT: SB 2308 SD1 - RELATING TO THE SEXUAL EXPLOITATION OF CHILDREN

Hearing: February 20, 2020, 1:00 p.m.
Conference Room 211, State Capitol

DEPARTMENT'S POSITION: The Department of Human Services (DHS) supports the intent of this bill and offers comments. DHS appreciates the amendments of the Committees on Human Services and Public Safety, Intergovernmental, and Military Affairs.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this bill is to establish within the Department of Human Services a sexually exploited children statewide coordinator and program and a commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to address the needs of sexually exploited children in the State. The bill also requires the sexually exploited children statewide program and the commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to provide annual reports to the Legislature, to establish within each county a commercial sexual exploitation of children multidisciplinary team to facilitate the sharing of information and to immediately respond to cases of sexually exploited children and to appropriate funds.

In 2017, Act 16 was enacted to bring Hawaii law into compliance with the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act of 2015 and the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act of 2010. Act 16 (2017), amongst other things, amended section 350-1, Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS), to add "severe forms of trafficking in persons" and "sex trafficking" to Hawaii's definition of "child abuse and neglect."

The DHS protocol is to ensure that trafficked children and youth are identified and receive appropriate services and protections; regardless of parental abuse or neglect. DHS has a contracted provider that provides victim centered, trauma- informed comprehensive services that are individualized and responsive to the needs, values, culture and gender identity statewide for minor victims of all forms of human trafficking. The provider also promotes public awareness of sexual exploitation of children through trainings for the community, for DHS staff, and DHS resource caregivers.

DHS is a member of the Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Steering Committee on Oahu. The Judiciary leads the CSEC Steering Committee and the group meets monthly. The steering committee is comprised of members from various state, county, and federal agencies. The purpose of this steering committee is to oversee the coordinated system response to child victims of sex trafficking, to identify, respond, problem-solve, and identify gaps and concerns.

DHS is also a member of the multidisciplinary team, led by the Judiciary's Children's Justice Centers located in each county. DHS participates in these team meetings to discuss coordinated services and case planning for the minor victims of sex trafficking.

The proposed measure will formalize and authorize in state law the necessary and complex work required to address the impacts of commercial sexual exploitation of children in Hawaii and provide coordinated and supportive services to the impacted children and families.

Expanding the DHS CSEC services to include a statewide coordinator on commercial sexual exploitation of children for the proper administration and enforcement of the program will require a sufficient appropriation for additional staff and funds to operationalize the program. DHS respectfully requests that any appropriation not supplant appropriation requests prioritized in the Executive Budget.

DHS continues its ongoing work to ensure these minor victims are identified and receive appropriate services.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony on this bill.

Testimony on behalf of the
Hawai‘i State Commission on the Status of Women

Prepared for the Senate Committee on Ways and Means

In Support of SB2308 SD1 With Amendments
Thursday, February 20, 2020, at 1:00 p.m. in Room 211

Dear Chair Dela Cruz, Vice Chair Keith-Agaran, and Honorable Members,

The Hawai‘i State Commission on the Status of Women (HSCSW) supports SB2308 SD1 with requested amendments. This measure which would establish within the Department of Human Services a sexually exploited children statewide coordinator and program and a commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to address the needs of sexually exploited children in the State. The bill, if passed, would also require the sexually exploited children statewide program and the commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to provide annual reports to the Legislature. The bill also establishes within each county a commercial sexual exploitation of children multidisciplinary team to facilitate the sharing of information and to immediately respond to cases of sexually exploited children.

HSCSW is a member of the Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children (CSEC) Steering Committee, which is led by the Judiciary and composed of members from various state, county, and federal agencies. The purpose of this steering committee is to oversee the coordinated system response to child victims of sex trafficking. HSCSW, in partnership with Arizona State University, has led the State in producing the first body of research on sex trafficking in Hawai‘i.

Sex trafficking, as defined by federal and state law, is real and happening at scale in Hawai‘i. A centralized response structure is necessary to improve the State’s sex trafficking efforts by establishing systemic information collection, for policy guidance, training, legislative reporting, and response and prevention programs.

Sex trafficking is described by Honolulu criminal justice personnel as “sexual assault on steroids” but young adult victims are not being given equal priority or attention in the state’s effort to build a coordinated system response. This month, HSCSW published results from a three-month survey of 97 sex trafficking victims across Hawai‘i. The report found that the average age of first sex trafficking experience was 21 years old, with the oldest victim first trafficked at age 55.¹ Seventy-seven percent of the sex trafficking victims were first sex trafficked after they turned 18 years old.²

Recommendation: Amend the definition of “child” to youth up to age 24

Efforts to combat sex trafficking of minors and adults are equally critical. The difference between a child victim of sex trafficking and an adult victim of sex trafficking is 60 seconds. The HSCSW requests that HB2062 HD1 be amended to cover sexually exploited youth up to 24-years-old, rather than a narrow focus on children under 18.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has clarified that states are required to consider any child who is identified by a State as a victim of sex trafficking or severe forms of trafficking as a victim of “child abuse and neglect” and “sexual abuse” and provides for a State option to apply the trafficking portion of the definition to a person who has not attained age 24.³ States such as Minnesota extend its CSEC response and supportive services for youth sex trafficking victims up to age 24.

The Hawai‘i State Department of Human Services Child Welfare Services already provides child sex trafficking services and responds to cases of youth up to 21-years-old. Youth up to 21-years-old are served and counted by the State-run child sex trafficking hotline mandated by federal law. In addition, current members of the Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children Steering Committee, in coordination with social service providers under DHS contract, provide assessment, case management, referral for treatment, service coordination between agencies, counseling and general support to child sex trafficking victims up to age 21.

A recent large-scale victimization survey undertaken by the Hawai‘i State Commission on the Status of Women and Arizona State University in April 2019 revealed that the average age of first trafficking experience was 21.4 years old among cross-sectional clients of a large social service agency serving a wide variety of populations in Hawai‘i.⁴ Further, national data has shown that approximately 70% of 18 to 24-year-olds arrested for prostitution (selling) had a trafficker.⁵

The majority of the commercial sex market is comprised of non-deviant sex-buyers (i.e., those not interested in pre-pubescent or pubescent children) and who are not driven by pathology. Only focusing on commercial sexual exploitation of minors essentially narrows the focus on an age range of 14-17. Even total elimination of the commercial sexual exploitation of all 14 to 17 year-olds would not make a significant dent on trafficking or demand in Hawai‘i.

Similarly, pimps operate in a cost-benefit analysis and trafficking children is higher risk, and higher-criminal culpability. Their interest is making money, so they prey on vulnerabilities not limited to age. Although the average age of entry for minors is around 14 to 16 years-old, the majority do not exit before turning 18. The primary forces that cause sex trafficking victims to be exploited are economic and emotional vulnerabilities, drug addiction, houselessness, dating violence, and poverty –regardless of age.

Accordingly, the Commission respectfully urges the Committee to pass SB2308 SD1 with the proposed amendment.

Sincerely,

Khara Jabola-Carolus

Testimony in SUPPORT of SB2308 SD1

The Hawai'i Psychological Association (HPA) supports Senate Bill 2308 SD1, which Establishes within the Department of Human Services a sexually exploited children statewide coordinator and program and a commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to address the needs of sexually exploited children in the State.

Over the past decade, there has been an increasing international awareness of the commercial sexual exploitation of children. Children in the state of Hawaii are vulnerable to sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation, especially foster children and runaways with histories of abuse. A statewide program to coordinate services and promote public awareness of sexual exploitation of children, available services for children, and state and national hotlines for victims and witnesses would significantly protect children in the state of Hawaii from sexual exploitation.

SB2308 SD1 will provide funding and structure for coordinating services and increasing public awareness about the sexual exploitation of children in the state of Hawaii.

Thank you for this opportunity to offer testimony in support of SB2308 SD1.

SB 2308, SD1, RELATING TO THE SEXUAL EXPLOITATION OF CHILDREN

FEBRUARY 20, 2020 · SENATE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE · CHAIR SEN. DONOVAN DELA CRUZ

POSITION: Support.

RATIONALE: IMUAlliance supports SB 2308, SD1, relating to the sexual exploitation of children, which establishes within the Department of Human Services a sexually exploited children statewide coordinator and program and a commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to address the needs of sexually exploited children in the State; requires the sexually exploited children statewide program and the commercial sexual exploitation of children steering committee to provide annual reports to the Legislature; and establishes within each county a commercial sexual exploitation of children multidisciplinary team to facilitate the sharing of information and to immediately respond to cases of sexually exploited children.

IMUAlliance is one of the state's largest victim service providers for survivors of sex trafficking. Over the past 10 years, we have provided comprehensive direct intervention (victim rescue) services to 150 victims, successfully emancipating them from slavery and assisting in their restoration, while providing a range of targeted services to over 1,000 victims and individuals at risk of sexual exploitation. Each of the victims we have assisted has suffered from complex and overlapping trauma, including post-traumatic stress disorder, depression and anxiety, dissociation, parasuicidal behavior, and substance abuse. Trafficking-related trauma can lead to a complete loss of identity. A victim we cared for in 2016, for example, had become so heavily trauma bonded to her pimp that while under his grasp, she couldn't remember her own name.

Yet, sadly, many of the victims with whom we work are misidentified as so-called “voluntary prostitutes” and are subsequently arrested and incarcerated, with no financial resources from which to pay for their release.

Sex trafficking is a profoundly violent crime. At least 23 percent of trafficking victims in Hawai'i report being first exploited before turning 18, according to a recent report, with the average age of trafficked keiki's initial exposure to exploitation being 11. Based on regular outreach and monitoring, we estimate that approximately 150 high-risk sex trafficking establishments operate in Hawai'i. In a recent report conducted by the State Commission on the Status of Women, researchers from Arizona State University found that 1 in every 11 adult males living in our state buys sex online. When visitors are also counted, that number worsens to 1 in every 7 men walking the streets of our island home and a daily online sex buyer market of 18,614 for O'ahu and a total sex buyer population for the island of 74,362, including both tourists and residents.

ASU's findings are grim, but not surprising to local organizations that provide services to survivors of sex trafficking. IMUAlliance, for example, has trained volunteers to perform outreach to victims in high-risk locations, like strip clubs, massage parlors, and hostess bars. More than 80 percent of runaway youth report being approached for sexual exploitation while on the run, over 30 percent of whom are targeted within the first 48 hours of leaving home. With regard to mental health, sex trafficking victims are twice as likely to suffer from PTSD as a soldier in a war zone. Greater than 80 percent of victims report being repeatedly raped and 95 percent report being physically assaulted, numbers that are underreported, according to the United States Department of State and numerous trauma specialists, because of the inability of many victims to recognize sexual violence. As one underage survivor told IMUAlliance prior to being rescued, “I can't be raped. Only good girls can be raped. I'm a bad girl. If I want to be raped, I have to earn it.”

Accordingly, we support measures to advance our state's ability to crack down on sexual slavery, including this proposal's enhancement of our state's and counties' data collection and information sharing practices. Hawai'i does not currently have a statewide coordinated continuum of care for victims of sex trafficking. In fact, the crime of “sex trafficking” only came into being under Hawai'i law in 2016. State agencies and service providers are currently striving to establish a network of victim services that is responsive to each victim's unique and individual needs. Yet, in our experience as a victim service provider, we have found that state agencies are reluctant to share information with one another about reported cases, typically because of concerns about protecting victim confidentiality, and often fail to appropriately identify victims of sexual exploitation as such, leaving them without access to trauma-informed care and victim services.

In practically every case on which we work, confidentiality is crucial to the effective provision of victim services. If a student at a public school is identified as a victim, information relating to that student is kept in the strictest confidence by Department of Education personnel, law enforcement, and service providers. If a trafficking victim is located at a local massage parlor, we would, again, maintain the strictest standards of confidentiality with regard to the victim's identity, inasmuch as possible, even after the victim's case has been completed. Such concerns should not be an excuse to inhibit the interagency collaboration necessary to assist victims, however, nor should they be a barrier to working with private organizations to rescue and restore survivors of our state's sadly prolific sex trade.

Frankly, as the state's only private provider of direct intervention and outreach services (our advocacy team literally meets victims in the places at which they're being trafficked and works to provide a pathway to freedom), we would be willing and able to provide all of the data enumerated in this bill to the Department of Human Services if called upon, as well as a great deal of additional information, including our regularly updated tally of high-risk sex trafficking establishments and case data. We note that this proposal embraces the experiences of nonprofit service providers, like ourselves, and the victims we serve by including four representatives of nonprofit agencies that provide direct services to sexually exploited children to participate on the steering committee, which we believe is imperative given the critical role that service providers perform each day in uplifting survivors of sexual exploitation.

Finally, we hope that this measure will catalyze much-needed discussions about reforming internal data collection practices within departments that knowingly or unknowingly serve trafficked children. HIDOE, for example, has no comprehensive protocol for handling sexually exploited children identified within the public school system. To close this gap, we are currently training administrators, teachers, counselors, and school-based behavioral health specialists in numerous complex areas in how to create school-level action plans for effectively responding to victims of exploitation. At the same time, we provide a prevention education program in schools to equip students to identify the signs of exploitation and become their own first-responders. The fewest number of potential victims about which we have received reports from any school with which we've worked is 12. Two years ago, we received over three dozen reports of potential victimization after a single presentation. Again, to better systematize our state's service delivery system for trafficking victims, we must require state agencies to better identify and track victims within the populations for which they're responsible, and better coordinate with one another to ensure that survivors receive the services they need to heal.
