Department: Education

Person Testifying: Dr. Christina M. Kishimoto, Superintendent of Education

Title of Bill: SB 0594, SD2 RELATING TO EDUCATION.

Purpose of Bill: Establishes and appropriates funds for a school meal subsidy program within the department of education to provide school lunch subsidies to children whose families do not otherwise qualify for free lunch under the free and reduced price lunch program, subject to income eligibility. Effective 7/1/2050. (SD2)

Department's Position:

The Department of Education (Department) supports SB 594, SD2. The Department believes that a subsidiary program would greatly benefit those who do not qualify for free meals. There are currently 89,000 paying students and another 15,000 students eligible for reduced-price lunches.

The Department believes that a subsidiary program for over 100,000 students who do not qualify for free meals would greatly benefit the students of Hawaii. There is precedent for this in other states. In 2018, California created a universal breakfast program and in 2020, Vermont may be the first state in the nation to offer free meals to all students according to Hunger Free Vermont. Vermont Bill S.223 would mandate all schools serve free lunch and breakfast.

This bill would reduce negative balances for families who struggle to make ends meet. Therefore, this bill would be of great benefit to our students and families. The additional cost for a universal program would be $40,000,000 to the state.

The Hawai'i State Department of Education is committed to delivering on our promises to students, providing an equitable, excellent, and innovative learning environment in every school to engage and elevate our communities. This is achieved through targeted work around three impact strategies: school design, student voice, and teacher collaboration. Detailed information is available at www.hawaiipublicschools.org.

SENATE BILL 594, SD2, RELATING TO SCHOOL LUNCH REFORM

MARCH 11, 2020 · HOUSE LOWER AND HIGHER EDUCATION COMMITTEE · CHAIR REP. JUSTIN H.
WOODSON

POSITION: Support.

RATIONALE: The Democratic Party of Hawai'i Education Caucus supports SB 594, SD2, relating to education, which establishes and appropriates funds for a school meal subsidy program within the DOE to provide school lunch subsidies to children whose families do not otherwise qualify for free lunch under the free and reduced price lunch program, subject to income eligibility.

Currently, 47.39 percent of students enrolled in the HIDOE are considered economically disadvantaged, including 3,604 students that experienced homelessness in the 2019-2020 school year. Moreover, 181 schools, including charter schools, are classified as Title I, meaning at least 47.2 percent of each school's total student populations is impoverished. While 84,993 students qualify for free or reduced-price lunch programs, many students remain on the cusp of poverty and attend schools that do not meet the minimum poverty requirements to qualify the entire school for reduced-price lunch. In turn, these students may be unable to afford the basic nutrition needed to actively participate in the learning process.

Hawai'i has the highest cost of living in the nation. To boost student achievement, we should ensure that our keiki are hungry for knowledge by ensuring that they're never hungry for food.

RE: SB 594 SD2 - RELATING TO EDUCATION

WEDESDAY, MARCH 11, 2020

COREY ROSENLEE, PRESIDENT
HAWAII STATE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Chair Woodson and Members of the Committee:

The Hawaii State Teachers Association supports SB 594, SD2 relating to education. This bill establishes and appropriates funds for a school meal subsidy program within the department of education to provide school lunch subsidies to children whose families do not otherwise qualify for free lunch under the free and reduced price lunch program, subject to income eligibility

In Hawai'i, food insecurity is one of the most pressing manifestations of overall socioeconomic inequality. Over 70,000 public school students eat free or reduced-price meals in our state, though only 40 percent eat school breakfasts. However, there are students with families who do not qualify for free or reduced lunch, but still struggle to pay for lunch at school, especially if they have multiple children and they are also required to pay for bus transportation. This struggle of our students and their families is not acceptable. Hawai'i ranks 47th in school breakfast participation rates among qualifying students. Out of the 14 other states with laws addressing school meals debt, 11 are stronger than Hawaii's 2017 law, which created a one-week grace period for students after their school meal accounts hit zero or negative balances.

Congress established the National School Lunch Program, in 1946, and School Breakfast Program, fully implemented in 1975, to ensure that low-income students are properly nourished. Yet, many local families struggle to provide nutritious meals for their children. In our public schools 47 percent of all public school students qualify for the Department of Education's free and reduced lunch program, a number that has risen by 20 percent since 2007 because of economic decline and cost of living increases. Not only low-income students are, again, less likely to receive adequate meals at home, but even those students whose families do not qualify for free or reduced lunches are left hungry, leaving them without the calories necessary to perform basic academic tasks. Cases of chronic hunger can lead to achievement gaps, concentration loss, illness, increased absenteeism, behavioral problems, depression, and misdiagnosed learning disabilities. Thus, providing a decent meal for our impoverished, as well as those students whose families are above the qualification for free and reduced lunch, children—or in this case, ensuring that those meals aren't unnecessarily taken away—is an educational imperative, and not something that children should suffer through. It is something we need to resolve for all of our students.

To ensure that all our students are well-fed and ready to learn, the Hawaii State Teachers Association asks your committee to support this bill.
