1. I have known and worked with Dr. William Haning III since 1989 at Tripler Army Medical Center. Since that time, we have maintained professional contact by working together on multiple projects over the past 3 decades.

2. He has contributed greatly to my education in Addiction Medicine, now my full-time practice.

3. I continue to have sustained professional and personal contact with Dr. Haning. In several of my more advanced planning roles in Behavioral Health Policy and Legislation, I continue to depend upon his counsel for both clinical and programmatic support.

4. Admittedly, my personal regard for William Haning, the man, strongly skews my opinion of him in the positive direction.

I have been fortunate to have observed the wholesale change he has quietly introduced, through his multiple roles, excellent planning, and a modicum of good fortune, MAJOR improvements to the organizational culture of treating Substance Use Disorder in Hawaii.

In manageable increments, his actions have improved access to care, refined patient management processes, developed continuity of care, and set a manageable long-term trajectory or planning and development to lead us through the next ten years or so.

5. Dr. Haning has been a strongly positive influence on my personal, professional, and interdisciplinary skills. He has my strongest possible recommendation for appointment to the Board of Regents, University of Hawaii.

Very respectfully,

John Paul Moses III, MBA, MSN, RN, APRN-Rx, FNP-BC, CARN-AP

Aloha: as a professor at the University of Hawaii School of Medicine (now John A Burns School of Medicine) I have known Dr. Maning for almost 40 years, since he was a student in my pharmacology class. Of the 60+ students in each class every year, Dr. Maning stands out as far more memorable than almost all of the other students. He was brilliant, forthright, witty, popular and highly respected by all his peers. At the graduation ceremonies I used to present the award for the most devoted and accomplished professor, and twice in three years (prohibited more frequently) he was elected by the students to be the recipient. This proves that among all the other faculty, the students had tremendous respect for Dr. Haning. I unreservedly support Dr. Haning's nomination to the Board of Regents of the University of Hawaii, and I will feel very secure in the future of our University if he is approved as a board member.

Mahalo, George W. Read, PhD, Emeritus Professor of Pharmacology.

Dr. Haning has been an amazing mentor and a teacher for many medical students and residents over the years at the University of Hawaii, John A. Burns School of Medicine. His dedications and commitment toward education have equipped many of us to become better physicians. Dr. Haning also works closely with other government and community entities so that none of us are working in silo and he is very generous with his time and availability. He is nationally well known, yet very humble, approachable and most of all, an amazing listener and an advisor. I sincerely believe Dr. Haning will be of value to the Board of Regents.

Dr. Haning serves on the Board of the non-profit for which I work. I have traveled with him as he gave presentations to other doctors throughout our state, and I have seen how completely they respect and admire him, both professionally and as an individual. Members of our national organization feel the same way; it is always a pleasure to hear others speak so highly of him.

Dr. Haning thinks on his feet and will be a tremendous asset to the Board of Regents.
