What other moku can we do this for? We need to decentralize the power, stop the state from micromanaging the people for the benefit of corporate powers, and give more volume to the Voice of the People. The State of Hawai'i has lots of management, but is lacking in leadership and 100% of the people are being represented by a single demographic of thought that only agrees with itself, and not the people. That indicates that only about 25% of the people have representation in legislation, which is never good for the people.
