RELATING TO HISTORIC PRESERVATION REVIEWS
Senate Committee on Ways and Means

The Office of Hawaiian Affairs will recommend that the Board of Trustees (BOT) SUPPORT WITH AMENDMENTS SB734 SD1, which will require the State Historic Preservation Division (SHPD) to establish an inter-division program to address the location, movement, relocation and restoration of Hawaiian burials sites that are exposed or likely to be exposed by coastal erosion due to climate change. SHPD shall collaborate with the Office of Conservation and Coastal Lands, Island Burial Councils, and OHA in the development of this program to 1) identify iwi within low-lying areas affected by coastal erosion; 2) examine fiscal impacts of the movement and relocation of iwi affected by coastal erosion; 3) examine the role of climate change on burial sites; 4) take appropriate steps to move and relocate iwi from impacted burial sites to areas further in land; 5) provide guidance and technical assistance to communities, organizations, and other stakeholders; and, 6) develop policies and procedures to protect impacted iwi and burial sites that have not been relocated.

The bill currently obligates OHA with the funding needed for iwi relocation work. While OHA supports the proactive effort to care for iwi effected by coastal erosion and recognizes the importance of inter-agency dialog to address the matter, we believe the funding mechanism for iwi relocation work is being prematurely placed solely on OHA without regard for 1) existing rules and statutes that currently vests SHPD with the responsibility to implement the State's historic preservation program; and, 2) language within the bill itself that calls for the inter-division program to examine fiscal impacts of the iwi relocation first and to subsequently provide recommendations to the legislature ahead of regular session 2023.

Furthermore, the same bill, which had failed to pass, was put forth last legislative session and was criticized for its drafter's lack of consultation with OHA. Once again, this measure is being put forth without any consultation with OHA. Thus, the collaborative inter-agency dialog suggested in the bill appears disingenuous. This practice needs to stop as it usurps the powers of OHA's BOT and disrespects OHA autonomy as any thoughts or reservations we may have on the matter are not taken into consideration.

- 1) Existing rules and statutes currently vest SHPD with the responsibility to implement the State's historic preservation program.

SB734 SD1
RELATING TO HISTORIC PRESERVATION REVIEWS
Senate Committee on Ways and Means

HRS 6E-3 establishes SHPD as being a division of the Department of Land and Natural Resources to carry out the historic preservation program. Notably, this work includes the development of a state-wide inventory to identify and document historic properties, inclusive of burial sites. As SHPD currently receives National Park Service funds to carry out the historic preservation program, the cost burden for any actions executed under the historic preservation program should remain with SHPD unless statutes and respective rules are amended. The bill, as proposed, does in fact recommend that the SHPD identify and adopt rules to carry out the relocation work.

Current administrative rules vest the jurisdiction of protecting inadvertently discovered human remains with SHPD. Notably, most iwi identified along coastlines are discovered inadvertently, without any kind of permit or archaeological inventory survey nexus. In these cases, SHPD must make decisions on relocation or preservation in place, and further develop a burial site component of a preservation plan. OHA would assume that this trend will continue after establishment of the inter-division program prescribed in this bill, and that the current rules as written should prevail uninhibited until appropriately changed via the HRS 91 process. Notably, the rule making process does allow for public comment opportunities that will indeed be important to the development of any rules related to historic preservation, especially those pertinent to burial sites.

Accordingly, it is solely SHPD's obligation to administratively assist the Island Burial Council and ensure protocols are carried out per the rules for various situations dealing with the discovery of human remains. It is currently SHPD that is responsible for going out to identify iwi that are reported and contacting the Island Burial Council moku representative and OHA. Historically, SHPD has failed to notify OHA of inadvertent burial discoveries in a timely manner. Inserting OHA into a more meaningful role throughout the process and obligating OHA funds would require further thought and examination. Thus, charging OHA with the costs to move and relocate iwi at this time is premature, and being dictated in way that ignores existing rules and statutes that require SHPD to shoulder historic preservation program responsibilities.

2) Language within the bill calls for SHPD to examine fiscal impacts of iwi relocation and to provide recommendations to the legislature ahead of the 2023 session.

OHA supports the current inter-division effort to address this important issue and believes that the bill rightfully calls for the inter-division program to examine the fiscal impact of iwi relocation. As an examination has yet to occur, OHA believes it is premature to solely designate OHA as being responsible for iwi relocation costs as SHPD is currently charged with administering the historic preservation program. It is further somewhat disingenuous to the inter-division cause proposed by the bill to designate OHA with such a responsibility without even consulting with OHA first. The bill proposes what seems to be a sincere collaborative effort, where each of the participating inter-division agencies provide input on how best to address the impacts of coastal erosion on iwi, both financially and practically.

OHA would further assume that the forthcoming inter-division program report to the legislature would include the results of the fiscal impact analysis with recommendations made collaboratively with each of the participating inter-division agencies. As such, the bill should not dictate where funding will come from for any iwi relocation effort beyond those funds already provided to SHPD for implementation of the historic preservation program. Deciding the funding mechanisms beyond those already afforded to SHPD for the historic preservation program presumes an understanding of OHA's existing financial commitments and undermines the collaborative nature of the inter-division effort.

OHA respectfully offers the following language to replace that found on page 3, lines 8-10 of this bill, to read as follows:

"for iwi found, [~~the office of Hawaii affairs~~] the Department of Land and Natural Resources shall cover costs related to the movement and relocation of iwi impacted by coastal erosion over fifty years old until recommendations can be made by the inter-division program to appropriately allocate alternative funding sources, and the State Historic Preservation Division can alter respective rules to enable the sharing of historic preservation program responsibilities.”

Ultimately, assigning a funding obligation to OHA, at this time, for iwi relocation work is premature, uninformed, and misaligned with current SHPD responsibilities under the historic preservation program.

OHA appreciates the opportunity to provide its support with amendments on SB734 and asks that this Committee take OHA’s recommendations into consideration. Mahalo nui loa.

In consideration of
SENATE BILL 734, SENATE DRAFT 1
RELATING TO BURIAL SITES

Senate Bill 734, Senate Draft 1 proposes to establish a Department of Land and Natural Resources (Department) inter-division program between the State Historic Preservation Division, the Burial Councils from each county, and the Office of Conservation and Coastal Lands, and the Land Division in partnership with the Office of Hawaiian Affairs to identify and protect, restore or relocate burial sites threatened by sea level rise, winter storms and erosion. The Department appreciates the intent of this measure and offers comments.

The Department recognizes that many Native Hawaiians lived near the shorelines, and thus, coastal erosion is a threat to iwi kupuna or Hawaiian burial sites. Every year seal level rise, winter storms, and erosion expose burial sites. While Section 6E-43, Hawaii Revised Statutes (HRS), and Chapter 13-300 Hawaii Administrative Rules (HAR) provide a framework for addressing these occurrences, these are generally measures after iwi kupuna have been discovered rather than proactive measures. However, the Department currently lacks the resources to timely respond to the exposure of burial sites from these events and does not have the capacity to proactively address iwi kupuna that could likely be exposed by coastal erosion caused by rising sea level. The Department believes that this measure provides a starting place for developing a program or coordinated approach that will allow the Department to address protection of burials threatened by sea level rise and climate change in a proactive, effective, and timely manner.

The Department offers the following comments on portions of this measure that we believe need clarification or amendment.

Senate Bill 734, Senate Draft 1 SECTION 1(b)(2) calls for the relocation of burials disturbed by sea level rise or extreme climate events “to areas further inland that have lineal genealogical or cultural significance....” There can be no question that some burials will need to be relocated away from high impact zones. The Department is aware, however, that not all descendants prefer relocation, the program should not be premised on the belief that there will be one proper solution to the treatment of all burial sites threatened by sea level rise and extreme weather events.

Senate Bill 734, Senate Draft 1 SECTION 2(b)(4) directs the inter-division program to “develop policies and procedures to protect iwi and burial sites that have not been relocated or that have been relocated.” However, such policies and procedures currently exist in HAR 13-300. The Department recommends that this subparagraph be deleted so that the inter-division group focuses its efforts on the development of proactive policies, procedures, and programmatic measures to address protection of burials impacted or potentially impacted by coastal erosion caused by sea level rise.

The Department appreciates the proposed appropriation of a blank amount of general fund to address program. The Department notes that required coordination and collaboration envisioned in Senate Bill 734, Senate Draft 1 will place an additional responsibility of the Department, which are not currently in the Governor’s budget request. In addition, the Department recommends that the appropriation include adequate fiscal resources that the Department may incur in the coordination and collaboration required by this measure by amending this section as suggested below.

Senate Bill 734, Senate Draft 1 SECTION 4 appropriates a blank amount of general funds to the Department to carry out the purposes of the Act. The Department believes that at least $250,000 is necessary to initially implement the provisions of this measure.

Mahalo for the opportunity to comment on this measure.

HEARING: February 9, 2023, 10:30AM, Conference Room 211 & Videoconference

SUBJECT: Testimony regarding SB 734, Relating to Burial Sites

I am Mara Mulrooney, President of the Society for Hawaiian Archaeology (SHA). We have over 150 members including professional archaeologists and advocates of historic preservation. On behalf of SHA, we support SB 734.

The intent of SB 734 is to establish an inter-division program between the State Historic Preservation Division (SHPD), Land Division, Office of Conservation and Coastal Lands (OCCL), Island Burial Councils, and the Office of Hawaiian Affairs (OHA) that addresses the location, movement, and restoration of Hawaiian burial sites or 'iwi, exposed or likely to be exposed to coastal erosion.

An inter-division program would ensure better protection of vulnerable 'iwi kupuna that are threatened due to coastal erosion. Further, this program would provide crucial support to SHPD's History and Culture Branch, which does not currently have the capacity to address this situation, which is of primary concern in light of sea level rise and storm events that are accelerating coastal erosion at an unprecedented rate across the Hawaiian Islands. The establishment of this inter-division program would provide the necessary framework and action plan to address the situation now and in the future.

Should SB 734 pass out of this committee, we request to be consulted as a stakeholder in future deliberations on an amended bill. Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at the above email.

Mahalo for the opportunity to provide testimony.

Aohe hana nui ke alu ia. When we all can be transparent amongst agencies, there will be less communication. We need to involve more than one agency, especially when concerning our iwi kupuna especially in a time where our coastlines are eroding.

Comments:

Aloha,

I have worked in the Cultural Resources Management industry for over 30 years as a bioarchaeologist and archaeologist. I am submitting this testimony in support of SB 734. Establishing an inter-division program would promote a more comprehensive picture of burial site locations and site status. (This would also contribute to the success of SB 75 regarding SHPD's quest to document burial site locations.) Establishing an inter-division program would also allow all of the agencies involved to better manage and protect burial sites and assess areas where `iwi are likely to be exposed. This is everyone's kuleana.

Thank you for considering this testimony.

Kind Regards,

Comments:

Passage of this bill is a must. Funding must be provided to support a state government interdivision program for the identification and preservation of Hawaiian burial sites, or 'iwi, in coastal locations that have been exposed, or likely will be exposed, to ongoing coastal erosion as a result of sealevel rise.
