Comments:

I strongly support this resolution and applaud Senator Lee for introducing it. AI promises great benefits but also potentially catastrophic threats. It is imperative that regulators and policymakers engage now in the heavy lifting of creating a robust regulatory scheme for domestic development of AI -- before it becomes simply too late. The AI intelligence explosion is happening now. If Congress waits too long any efforts to regulate this industry, potentially far more dangerous than even nuclear weapons, may disappear. I wrote a recent essay looking at the possible future of AI development and it goes exponential very very quickly. Please vote yes on this important resolution urging Congress to act with alacrity.
