Testimony of the Office of the Public Defender to the House Committee on Transportation re: H.B. 387: RELATING TO HIGHWAY SAFETY

Chair Darius K. Kila, Vice-Chair Tina Nakada Grandinetti and Members of the Committee:

The Office of the Public Defender respectfully opposes HB 387.

HB 387 proposes to add the following language to HRS section 707-705 (Negligent Injury in the First Degree) by adding subsection (c) to read: “Bodily injury to another person by operation of a vehicle in a negligent manner while under the influence of alcohol or drugs”.

The OPD believes that this addition would create several unexpected problems:

First, the term “bodily injury” as used herein and as defined in HRS section 707-700 means “physical pain, illness or any impairment of physical condition”. This is a very low threshold for the commission of a class C felony (punishable by five years of incarceration), especially when used in conjunction with a “negligent” state of mind. The intentional, knowing or reckless infliction of “bodily injury” is considered an Assault in the Third Degree (see HRS section 707-712), which is a misdemeanor (punishable by one year of incarceration).

Second, the term “under the influence of alcohol or drugs” is not defined in HRS section 707-705. It is unclear if the term has the same meaning as that contained in HRS chapter 291E or a much lower threshold.

Thus, under HB 387, it is conceivable that a driver could have one alcoholic beverage, experience a minor “fender bender”, which caused mild transient pain to another person and be arrested, prosecuted and convicted for Negligent Injury in the First Degree. HB 387, in a sense, criminalizes minor traffic accidents which result in minor injuries. It is the position of the OPD that said conduct and results are best left to civil adjudication. However, if the legislature believes that it is necessary to add language dealing with driving under the influence in conjunction with negligent injuries it should please consider the following:

The proposed language in HB 387 would better be placed in HRS section 707-706 Negligent Injury in the Second Degree, wherein the punishment would be consistent with the level of injury that is caused. Furthermore, the OPD would recommend that the term: “under the influence of alcohol or drugs” be defined as it is in HRS Chapter 291E for statutory consistency.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this measure.

H.B. 387
RELATING TO HIGHWAY SAFETY

House Committee on Transportation

The Hawaii Department of Transportation (HDOT) supports H.B. 387, relating to highway safety. This proposed bill would amend the offense of negligent injury in the first degree to include injuries negligently inflicted by intoxicated drivers.

According to HDOT's annual Behavioral Survey:

13 percent of car drivers and 22 percent of pickup truck drivers admitted to driving while feeling buzzed in the past six months. In addition, 24 percent of passengers of motor vehicles witnessed the driver of the vehicle they were in looked buzzed or admitted to feeling buzzed.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, in 2022 Hawaii experienced 37 alcohol-impaired driving fatalities (BAC .08+), which were all 100 percent preventable. Additionally, 2023 preliminary state data shows that 49 of the 117 (42 percent) drivers involved in a fatal crash tested positive for alcohol and/or drugs.

Increasing the penalty for intoxicated drivers involved in a crash resulting in injury to another person will serve as an additional deterrent to those drivers who do not consider the seriousness and potential harm impaired driving can cause to others.

We respectfully urge the Committee to pass this measure.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony.

RE: H.B. 387; RELATING TO HIGHWAY SAFETY

Chair Kila, Vice Chair Grandinetti, and members of the Senate Committee on Judiciary, the Department of the Prosecuting Attorney for the City and County of Honolulu submits the following testimony in strong support of H.B. 387. This bill is part of the Department's 2025 legislative package, and we thank you for hearing it.

H.B. 387 amends the crime of first-degree negligent injury to include bodily injury negligently inflicted by alcohol- or drug-impaired drivers. Currently, impaired drivers who actually injure others face the same petty misdemeanor penalty as any other impaired driver.

Alcohol compromises driving skill at even low levels of blood-alcohol concentration (BAC).<sup>1</sup> Research with driving simulators demonstrates inability to maintain consistent lane position at a BAC levels as low as 0.021%.<sup>2</sup> Several studies have consistently shown that both alcohol and other drugs significantly contribute to crash risk.<sup>3</sup>

Every injury caused by impaired drivers was completely preventable. The risks of driving while drunk or drugged have been well-known for decades. And the costs in deaths alone has been staggering. More Americans have died from drunk driving than in all our nation's wars combined.<sup>4</sup>

Because of this danger, every state has already decided that civil penalties alone are insufficient to deter drunk driving. Within this class of offenders, those drivers who actually cause collisions—collisions leading to physical injury—are the most dangerous.

Under H.B. 387, the prosecution would not secure a conviction simply by proving an impaired driver was involved in a collision. Even proof of injury to the other driver would not suffice. As with all criminal cases, the prosecution must prove the causal link between the defendant's actions and the result.<sup>5</sup> In other words, the State must show that had the defendant not driven drunk or impaired, the other person would have remained free of injury. Felony sentencing is entirely appropriate in such cases.

Finally, the phrase “under the influence of alcohol or drugs” should remain in the bill. Its equivalent appears in the first-degree negligent homicide statute.<sup>6</sup> Uniform phrasing ensures that first-degree negligent injury is an included offense of first-degree negligent homicide.<sup>7</sup>

By contrast, HRS § 291E-61 defines the offense of operating a vehicle under the influence of an intoxicant as follows:

A person commits the offense of operating a vehicle under influence of an intoxicant if the person operates or assumes actual physical control of a vehicle:

- (1) While under the influence of alcohol in an amount sufficient to impair the person's normal mental faculties or ability to care for the person and guard against casualty.
- (2) While under the influence of any drug that impairs the person's ability to operate the vehicle in a careful and prudent manner[.]<sup>8</sup>

In cases of negligent collision, this condition is redundant: a negligent collision already demonstrates impairment of normal mental faculties, inability to guard against casualty, and inability to operate a vehicle in a careful and prudent manner. Rather than cross-referencing another statute, this Committee should retain similar phrases used in Part II of Chapter 707.

The Department strongly encourages passage of H.B. 387. Thank you for the opportunity to testify.

<sup>6</sup> See HRS § 707-702.5(1)(a) (“A person commits the offense of negligent homicide in the first degree if that person causes the death of [a]nother person by the operation of a vehicle in a negligent manner while under the influence of drugs or alcohol.”).

<sup>7</sup> See HRS § 701-109(4)(a) (“A defendant may be convicted of an offense included in an offense charged in the felony complaint, indictment, or information. An offense is so included when [i]t is established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of the offense charged[.]”).

Honorable Chair Kila, Vice-Chair Grandinetti and Members of the Committee on Transportation. The County of Hawai‘i, Office of the Prosecuting Attorney submits the following testimony in support of House Bill No. 387.

This bill was established with the intent of amending the offense of Negligent injury in the first degree to include injuries negligently inflicted by intoxicated drivers.

The proposed amendment expands negligent injury in the first degree to include individuals who cause bodily injury to others while operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol or drugs. By expanding this section to include impaired driving, this bill sends a clear message that driving under the influence, whether by alcohol or drugs, is not only dangerous but will carry significant consequences and hold offenders accountable.

The County of Hawai‘i, Office of the Prosecuting Attorney remains committed to pursuing justice with integrity and commitment. HB 387 is a step forward in protecting all individuals on the road, improving public safety, and reinforcing our commitment to prevent senseless injuries and loss of life. For the foregoing reasons, the County of Hawai‘i, Office of the Prosecuting Attorney supports the passage of House Bill No. 387. Thank you for the opportunity to testify on this matter.

THE HONORABLE DARIUS K. KILA, CHAIR, HOUSE COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION, THIRTY-THIRD STATE LEGISLATURE
Regular Session of 2025
State of Hawai'i
February 10, 2025

RE: HB 387 RELATING TO HIGHWAY SAFETY.

Chair Kila, Vice Chair Grandinetti, and Members of the House Committee on Transportation:

The Office of the Prosecuting Attorney, County of Kaua'i SUPPORTS HB 387, that would raise the level of offense for a driver who negligently causes injury to another person with a motor vehicle if that driver is intoxicated.

Currently Hawai'i's Negligent Injury statutes do not take into account whether a driver was intoxicated at the time of the offense. Instead, they only consider the seriousness of the injury inflicted to determine the seriousness of the crime. This is different from Hawai'i's Negligent Homicide statutes that attribute increased seriousness of the level of the offense based on evidence of intoxication of the offending driver. The amendment to Negligent Injury in the First Degree (707-705) in HB 387 would bring the statute more in line with the values and penalty structure in the Negligent Homicide statutes and serve to further dissuade people from driving while intoxicated.

Accordingly, the Office of the Prosecuting Attorney, County of Kaua'i, requests that this measure be passed.

Thank you very much for the opportunity to testify.
