PART II

SECTION 5. The legislature finds that certain laws of the State were enacted to assist victims of domestic and sexual violence. For example, certain provisions in the Hawaii Revised Statutes address early termination of a shared cell phone contract or rental agreement by victims. However, the legislature also finds that when victims attempt to obtain assistance under these laws, they must show proof of their victim status. This is complicated by the fact that the types of documents accepted as proof of domestic or sexual violence victim status vary among the different laws, even though the actual substance of the requirements is similar. As a result, victims may be discouraged from trying to seek assistance under these laws.

The purpose of this part is to make consistent the types of documents accepted as proof of domestic or sexual violence victim status.

SECTION 6. Section 378-2, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (b) to read as follows:

“(b) For purposes of subsection (a)(1):

(1) An employer may verify that an employee is a victim of domestic or sexual violence by requesting that the employee provide:

(B) Has actual knowledge of the employee’s status as a domestic or sexual violence victim; or

(C) Received verification that the employee is a domestic or sexual violence victim;

SECTION 7. Section 378-72, Hawaii Revised Statutes, is amended by amending subsection (d) to read as follows:

“(d) Where an employee has taken not more than five calendar days of leave for non-medical reasons, the employee shall provide certification to the employer in the form of a signed statement within a reasonable period after the employer’s request, that the employee or the employee’s minor child is a victim of domestic or sexual violence and the leave is for one of the purposes enumerated in subsection (a). "(a) In applying the provisions of section 383-30(1), an individual who has established eligibility based on full-time employment may be found to have good cause for voluntarily separating from subsequent part-time employment based on any of the following conditions:

- (1) Loss of full-time work with a regular employer made it economically unfeasible to continue part-time employment;

- (2) The part-time employment was outside the individual's customary occupation and would not have been considered suitable work at the time the individual accepted part-time employment. In determining whether an individual is reasonably fitted for a particular job, the department shall consider:

Evidence includes ~~[police records, court records, statements from the individual, a volunteer of a victim services organization, the employee's attorney or advocate, a member of the clergy, medical, or other professional~~
